MAKE WAY FOR THE COMMUTER BUS

A Golden Gate Transit bus whips down Highway 101 near Paradise Drive on a practice run in the newly-constructed freeway lanes between Greenbrae and the Richardson Bay Bridge. Beginning tomorrow the lanes will be reserved for bus use during peak commute hours, southbound from 6 to 9 a.m. and northbound from 4 to 7 p.m. At all other times — including Saturdays and Sundays, the lanes will be open to all traffic.

BY PROPERTY OWNERS

Shopping Center Opposed

By NELS JOHNSON and JAMES E. WILLIAMS

A proposal that redevelopment of the City of San Rafael include erection of a new shopping center has drawn some opposition from property owners along downtown Fourth Street.

Property owners, however, appear more split on the issue than are merchants who do business along the portion of Fourth stretching from Lincoln Avenue to C Street.

The Independent-Journal yesterday surveyed owners of Fourth Street frontage from Lincoln to C St. Owners of 28 of the 51 parcels in that area were reached for comment.

Of 16 property owners taking a position on the shopping center proposal, 10 rejected it while six favored a center. Most favoring a shopping center in town said it should be located at the end of Fourth Street. as proposed in Redevelopment Sketch Plan Three.

Property owners appeared evenly split on a proposal for a downtown mall. Most who favored a mall downtown said their support was based on provision of adequate off street parking.

A survey of merchants that appeared in Tuesday's I-J showed tenants doing business along Fourth opposed any new shopping center by more than 4 to 1. Merchants appeared more evenly divided on the mall, with 22 in favor and 16 opposed.

The San Rafael City Council, meeting as the municipal redevelopment agency, will consi-

Parks Commission Urges Stiff Bicycle Regulations

The Marin County Parks, Recreation and Open Space Commission yesterday forwarded to county supervisors a series of recommendations aimed at stricter regulation of bicyclists.

Several of the recommendations, including one requiring most bike riders to be licensed, are proposed to become part of the county's "legislative program" of wants and needs from Sacramento.

Commission Chairman Leroy M. Gerner abstained from voting, saying a number of the suggestions, if adopted, might prove hazardous to bicyclists and motorists.

The document, accepted by other commissioners, was prepared by the commission's trails committee headed by Merritt A. Robinson.

He told his colleagues that the idea of licensing those 12 and older as a condition to riding on public roads was intended to emphasize the importance of safety laws and regulations.

Statistics show the 13-and-14-year-old age group has the highest accident rate, he added.

It should be accompanied with mandatory classes in bicycle laws, operation and safety for elementary school children with informational materials sent to parents, he said.

Another proposal is to require motorists to be familiar with bicycle laws and regulations and the rights and obligations of bike riders.

It could be done through the motor vehicle licensing test and literature, the document says.

Other ideas endorsed yesterday are:

To allow bicyclists to use freeways, tunnels and "certain bridges" if no other route or facility is available.

To allow bicyclists to use the extreme right side — preferably paved shoulders if in good repair — on all high-speed roads.

To encourage or require bicyclists traveling at speeds in excess of 15 miles per hour to use roadways rather than bicycle paths.

To provide stricter enforcement of all laws pertaining to bicycle operation, regardless of the age of the rider.

To sentence bycicle traffic offenders to a "bicycle driving school" with those under 12 to be accompanied by a parent.

To make bicycle registration mandatory.

To find and use safer designs for intersections of bicycle paths and roadways.

The commission yesterday also was given a presentation on the proposed hiking and equestrian trails plan for the Golden Gate National Recreation Area. The plan was prepared by a citizens' committee and calls for using many existing trails, ranch and fire roads.

900 Acres In Novato Sold For $4 Million

About 900 acres of the Bahia Subdivision in northeastern Novato is being sold by Union Bank of Los Angeles for more than $4 million dollars.

Handling the deal is Henry L. Hicks and Associates of Novato. Hicks declined to reveal the name of the purchasing corporation because the deal is still in escrow and not yet closed.

Bahia lands are at the end of Bahia Drive, the extension of Bugeia Lane. It is bounded on the east by Petaluma River, north by Black John Slough, west by H Ranch Road, and on the south by Black Point and the south ridge of Crest Road.

The entire Bahia area is master-planned for about 2000 units of single family and multiple residential housing. About 200 homes have already been built by Hoffman Homes of Concord and about 40 by McCarthy Company at Vista Bahia.

Hicks said that the purchasers plans to build 50 single family homes next year, some along the Petaluma River waterfront at the end of Topaz Drive and others interspersed on other streets like Malobar Drive.

A spokesman for Union Bank in Los Angeles said that, at the buyers' request, no information can be disclosed until the close of escrow, which is scheduled for Dec. 31.

Crowd Jeers 'Jobs' While Ford Speaks Of Recovery

Dedication Of Train Is Noisy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford, jeered by a small crowd shouting "jobs, jobs, jobs," said in a railway dedication speech today that Americans need the will to win to overcome serious energy and economic problems.

"Let us reaffirm our faith in the American spirit ... and win we will," he said, his voice competing with shouts of some 100 young protestors at a small railroad station in suburban Alexandria, Va.

The President took part in ceremonies launching an "American Freedom Train" — a privately-sponsored train which will tour the country during the Bicentennial celebration with such historic documents as George Washington's personal copy of the Constitution.

The hooting, sign-carrying demonstrators were among about 500 persons who attended Ford's 10-minute speech from the rear platform of the last car in the red, white and blue train.

At one point, he stumbled over the words in his prepared address.

The protesters stood only about 30 yards from Ford. He never directly acknowledged them, but he had a severe expression on his face throughout most of his speech and repeatedly looked sternly in their direction.

Apparently venting dissatisfaction with Ford's economic policies and concern about rising unemployment, the demonstrators carried many large signs printed with such slogans as "Don't Let Big Business Railroad U.S.," "No inflation Without Representation," and "GM —Lay Off Profits, Not Workers."

BIG DAY FOR ROCKEFELLER

Nelson A. Rockefeller exchanged greetings with well-wishers at his New York City office today. Shortly afterward, he left for Washington, D.C., to await the final vote of the House approving his nomination as vice president of the United States, expected by 4 p.m. PST. His swearing in ceremony in the Senate was to be nationally televised, a precedent for the Senate. (UPI Telephoto)

$1.1 Million Settlement Reached In I-J Lawsuit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) -The $12.4 million conspiracy damage suit brought by the San Rafael Independent-Journal against numerous labor unions and individuals was settled today for $1,129,500.

Agreement was reached in the chambers of Alamede County Superior Judge William Hayes and announced by Richard Bettini, attorney for the newspaper and J. D. Burdick for the International Typographical Union.

The suit arose from a lengthy strike which was begun January, 1970, by the Typographical Union. The complaint filed by the newspaper alleged a series of violent acts, including assault, arson, intimidation and murder.

The settlement was reached without the defendants admit ing liability for such acts.

Bettini said $55,000 was subject to a contingency trust agreement. He also said that to his knowledge it was the largest settlement or verdict in the nation to come from a strike situation.

For technical reasons, pending completion of the settlement agreements, the judge swore in a jury and continued the case until Jan. 22.

DEER JOINS TERRA LINDAN FOR COFFEE

As a Terra Linda woman was drinking a cup of coffee in her kitchen yesterday morning, a deer crashed through the window.

After thrashing about, breaking a small table, the deer smashed his way out, then made further attempts to enter through other windows, said Catherine Grady of 382 Holly Drive. She rushed to the phone to call her husband, Kenneth, who advised her to get out of the house, he said.

But the deer, knocking askew some bonzai plants, finally crashed through a fence and got out of the Gradys' yard.

The Gradys called the Humane Society, but police reported that, soon after, the deer, described as a large buck, was struck and killed by a car on Las Gallinas Road.

Grady said he had never seen deer around his house before.

"We live in what you might call a semi-urban area right in the middle of Terra Linda," he said.

Houseguest Burns To Death In Tam Valley

A 27-year-old Tiburon man was killed last night in a fire that demolished a hillside cabin in Tamalpais Valley and sent flames shooting 100 feet into the sky.

The body of Rodney Smith of 29 Main Street was found in the ruins of the kitchen of the four-room cabin at 529 Tamalpais Drive, where he was the guest of brothers Robert and Stephen Thompson.

According to Robert Thompson, firemen said, Smith was in one of the two upstairs rooms, as was another houseguest, Reg- latta Lombardi, when he left the house shortly before midnight to fetch some furniture from a car at the bottom of the hill. His brother, Stephen, was away from home, he said.

Thompson said he turned, saw flames licking at the eaves of the house and ran to the front door. As flames shot through the door, he shouted to Smith and Miss Lombardi, he said.

She awakened and leaped through a window to the hillside behind the house, but Smith apparently was trapped inside, Thompson told firemen.

When the Tamalpais Valley fire units arrived, flames had spread to two adjacent redwood trees and underbrush, according to Fire Chief Dale N. Bennett. Neighbors said that flames reached 100 feet above the cabin.

Neighbors said that the shingled cabin was some 80 years old, one of the first structures in the canyon.

Chief Bennett estimated the loss of the cabin and contents at some $35,000.

Thompson told firemen he had lit a woodburning stove on the second floor before leaving the house, but cause of the fire is undetermined, chief Bennett said.

Thompson and Miss Lombardi were treated at Kaiser Hospital for minor burns of the face and hands, Bennett reported.

Smith is survived by his wife, Sherrill, of the Tiburon address. Funeral arrangements were pending today at Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley.

THIEVES HIT SANTA'S GOODIE SACK

WALNUT CREEK (UPI) — Thieves have pilfered Santa Claus' goodie sack.

Police said yesterday that a brightly colored Christmas shack in a shopping area was broken into and 600 cookies stolen.

The cookies were to have been handed out to children when they gave Santa their Christmas requests.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Civilization Worries Pope Paul

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI said today that modern civilization, with its nuclear bombs and lack of love, is a defective machine that could explode and wreck the world.

Pope Paul

"There is something not functioning properly in the monumental machine of our civilization," the Pope said in a 3,000-word message to commemorate New Year's Day, celebrated by the Catholic church as a Day of Peace since 1968.

"This machine could explode in an indescribable conflagration because of a defect in its construction. We say a defect, not a lack. The defect, that is, of the spiritual element."

Russ Deny Fight

MOSCOW (UPI) — The official Soviet news agency Tass today denied press reports of renewed fighting between Russian and Chinese forces on the Mongolian-Chinese border.

The reports appeared in the London Daily Telegraph. Tass accused the newspaper of spreading "anti-Soviet lies."

Dublin Inaugural

DUBLIN (UPI) — Judge Cearbhall O'Dalaigh, 63-year-old former Chief Justice, was sworn in today as the fifth President of the Irish Republic.

A 21-gun salute boomed across the city at noon to mark the formal inauguration ceremony at Dublin Castle where O'Dalaigh took the oath of office to succeed Erskine Childers who died last month.

O'Dalaigh, until recently a judge of the European Court in Luxembourg, was selected unanimously by the leaders of Ireland's three main political parties.

Bristol Bombing

LONDON (UPI) — Police raided homes in the port city of Bristol today in search of outlawed Irish Republican Army members accused of bombing a crowded shop-lined street and injuring 20 persons.

Blast At UN

CAPE TOWN (UPI) — South Africa's foreign minister Hilgaard Muller has warned his country may withdraw from the United Nations because of "a whole series of absurdities," including pressure from the U.N. Security Council to leave South West Africa.

South West Africa — a territory twice the size of California — has been administered by the white supremacist government of South Africa since 1915.

South Africa was barred from participating in the latest General Assembly session, and only a triple veto by Britain, France and the United States blocked a Security Council resolution to completely expel South Africa from the world body.

Tension On Africa

NAIROBI (UPI) — Kenya moved today to seal off its borders with neighboring Tanzania in the face of a deepening diplomatic and economic crisis between the two East African countries, government sources said.

African diplomats said the latest crisis could finally break up the three-nation East African Community of Kenya, Tanzania and Uganda — the region's equivalent of the European Common Market.

The Kenyan action followed several weeks of bitter exchanges between the two countries over trade and foreign nationals working in Kenya and Tanzania.

Election Lost

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Democrat John Durkin lost a federal court decision yesterday that could have made him a U.S. Senator.

He would up instead trailing Republican Rep. Louis Wyman by five votes in a state review of the election recount.

The three-man state Ballot Law Commission was due to resume its review today of protested ballots from the final 79 of the state's 299 precincts.

Coal Dispute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United Mine Workers bargaining council has approved a revised contract proposal for about 4,500 mine construction workers whose picketing has kept many of the nation's soft coal mines closed.

But a dispute between truckers in Western Pennsylvania and the UMW threatens to prolong the shutdown.

Union officials said they expected a ratification vote to start Saturday or Sunday. Terms of the contract were not announced.

Bargaining between the UMW and the Western Pennsylvania Coal Haulers Association broke off Tuesday night when the truckers turned down the UMW agreement with the coal operators, ratified by the miners Dec. 6.

Boston Ruling

BOSTON (UPI) — Three members of the city School Committee escaped criminal contempt of court charges for ignoring school desegregation orders yesterday in a U.S. District Court hearing held while rowdy demonstrators protested outside.

U.S. District Judge W. Arthur Garrity denied an NAACP motion that Committee Chairman John J. Kerrigan and members John J. McDonough and Paul Ellison be charged with criminal contempt, after the committee's 3-2 vote Monday defying a court order to deliver a total desegregation plan for 1975 affecting all 200 public schools and calling for the busing of as many as 35,000 students.

Viet Anniversary

SAIGON (UPI) — Indochina began its 29th year of war today with heavy fighting throughout South Vietnam, including a rocket attack against Da Nang.

The upsurge in fighting came on the 28th anniversary of the beginning of the French Indochina war. On Dec. 19, 1946, Ho Chi Minh's Viet Minh forces blew up Hanoi's French-run power stations and fled to the countryside.

The Communists have battled French, American and South Vietnamese forces since then. Peace has been declared three times, but Vietnam has yet to witness a full year without fighting.

Vintage Suffers

PARIS (UPI) — The conviction of eight wine dealers for fraud has damaged the worldwide mystique of Bordeaux vintages and shattered the reputation of one of France's proudest wine houses.

A Bordeaux court punctured the snob appeal of the region's famed wines yesterday, sentencing the dealers to prison terms and $8 million in fines for bottling cheap wine under fancy labels.

Jon Winroth, an American wine expert who runs the Academie du Vin wine-tasting school in Paris, predicted years of worldwide skepticism about Bordeaux vintages.

Soviet Budget

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet legislators met today to give approval for a draft budget of $285.3 billion for 1975 that could mean yet another cutback in consumer goods for the average citizen.

Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev promised in 1971 to "saturate the market with consumer goods," but Communist leaders yesterday told the Supreme Soviet priorities for the final year of the five-year plan would be switched to heavy industry and more fuels.

Richfield Requests Offshore Drilling

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Atlantic Richfield Co. today asked the lameduck Republican Lands Commission to approve the drilling of 17 new wells in the Santa Barbara Channel.

If approved, it would be the second time the state commission permitted offshore drilling since the disastrous Santa Barbara oil spill nearly six years ago.

UN Diplomats Conclude Annual Assembly Session

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Diplomats began returning home today at the end of a precedent-shattering 1974 General Assembly session that saw the developing nations emerge as the major voting bloc in the United Nations.

Delegates recessed the 29th annual assembly session last night, skirting full adjournment so they could fly back on short notice in case of a new Middle East war.

The U.N. General Assembly handed the United States one final defeat yesterday by voting 90-20 with 21 abstentions to raise the pay of 30,000 U.N. employees by 6 per cent, a move expected to cost about $26 million.

The African, Asian and Latin American majority rolled over U.S. opposition during the 13-week session to grant observer status to the Palestine Liberation Organization and expel South Africa from the assembly.

U.S. Ambassador John Scali said the moves represented a "tyranny of the majority." Western diplomats complained the assembly set precedents for the seating of other guerrilla groups and the expulsion of unpopular U.N. members.

American displeasure with its waning influence was reflected in a U.S. decision to boycott a world fund providing emergency relief to nations in economic distress.

Ambassador Clarence Clyde Ferguson Jr., U.S. representative to the U.N. Economic and Social Council, said yesterday the fund would overlap existing aid channels and "insert yet another layer of bureaucracy between donors and those who so desperately need assistance."

American taxpayers already finance about 25 per cent of the U.N. secretariat's operating budget and up to 40 per cent of the budget of some of the affiliated agencies.

Dissident 'Disappointed' By Russ Emigration Denial

MOSCOW (UPI) — Nuclear physicist Andrei D. Sakharov, a leading Soviet dissident, described today as "very disappointing" a Kremlin denial that it had agreed to ease emigration in exchange for American trade.

He said any such promise should be written into Soviet law "because oral assertions can always be taken back."

Alexander D. Glazer, a Jewish nonconformist artist, said the emigration of Soviet citizens was not just an internal affair but an international one.

A statement from the official Tass news agency yesterday and a published letter from Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger denied the Soviet leadership made a deal to increase the outflow of disaffected citizens, mainly Jews, in exchange for most favored-nation status.

Sakharov, who is not Jewish, is the father of the Soviet Hbomb and is often described as the leading human rights campaigner in the Soviet Union. He said, "My first impression is that this is very disappointing.

"I want to repeat my belief that with the Soviet gogernment it is necessary to have written laws on such matters because oral assertions can always be taken back and this is an example."

"This thing is bad for the Soviet Union but also bad for international relations."

Glazer, who twice was taken for questioning last week by the KGB secret police and who has applied to go to Israel, said: "I am not a statesman but I believe that in signing the Declaration of Human Rights, the Soviet Union made the question of the departure of its citizens an international affair as well as an internal one."

Glazer said human rights and trade should not be linked.

"A human being should have the right to live where he wants to live and this right and trade matters are separate things," he said. "I believe the Soviet Union should be given the status of most-favored-nation but this should not have anything to do with people leaving the country."

Glazer said he had no reason to dispute Gromyko's contention the numbers applying to leave the Soviet Union had decreased. He said he believed a certain level of Soviet officialdom was blocking applications to aggravate conflict.

Larkpsur Orders New Parking Lot

Downtown Larkspur got an early Christmas present last night — a brand new parking lot with space for 32 cars.

In rapid-fire fashion, the city council, sitting as the Larkspur Parking Authority, awarded a $46,973 contract for construction of the lot and authorized the sale of $175,000 worth of revenue bonds.

Construction by the low bidder, W. K. McLellan Co. of San Rafael, should begin in two weeks, estimated City Mgr. Harlan Berry.

Other bids ranged up to $63,580. All were lower than the engineer's estimate of $65,000.

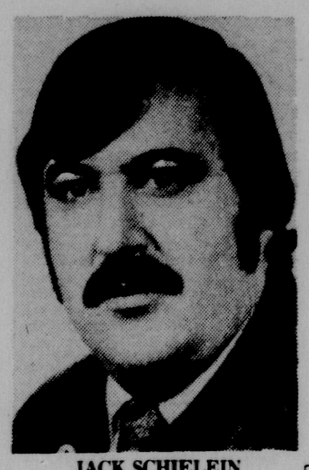
The bonds will finance critically needed parking in downtown Larkspur and will be sold to Blythe Eastman Dillon and Co. of San Francisco at an interest rate of 8.15 per cent.

The lot will be heavily landscaped, with about one-quarter of its area covered with plants, Berry said.

Cost of the lot includes $46,973 for construction and $112,100 for purchase of the 20,000-square-foot parcel located at Magnolia Avenue and Ward Street.

Other costs will push the total price to $210,900. The city will make up the difference with funds it has been saving for two years, said Berry.

About $13,000 will be left over after all expenses, Berry said. This can be used to lease additional parking in Larkspur or pay for unexpected costs.



JACK SCHIELEIN
Corte Madera Volunteer Firemen

Volunteers Elect Jack Schielein

John G. (Jack) Schielein has been elected 1975 president of the Corte Madera Volunteer Firemen. Schielein, 32, served as vice president of the volunteers this year.

As president, Schielein works with Fire Chief Frank L. Nelson to supervise the training and drills of the 14 volunteers who assist the full-time paid firemen.

In addition, Schielein takes charge of the volunteers' civic and charitable projects, including sponsorships of Little League teams, donations to various causes around town and providing a fire truck for parades and ceremonies.

A native of San Francisco, Schielein moved to Corte Madera in 1946. He graduated from Redwood High School in 1961 and from an apprentice program for painters and decorators at College of Marin in 1965.

He is a paint job estimator for a San Francisco firm.

Schielein has lived at 117 Sonora Way in Corte Madera since 1961. He and his wife Sharon have three children — John, 12, Janene, 10, and Nancy, 7.

Bridge Crew Swamped With Cash

So much money is pouring into the Golden Gate Bridge District's treasury that it needs more workers just to smooth out the bills and count the coins, its staff reported yesterday.

Some $80,000 a day in receipts are counted and, under tight security, deposited in banks to earn interest. Unless the vault crew keeps up with the deluge, the district will lose interest income on undeposited funds, the staff has cautioned.

The message was not lost on the rules, policy and industrial relations committee, which promptly endorsed the staff's proposal that two more persons be added to the present vault crew of eight. The recommendation will go to the full board at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Vault employees make $13,188 a year, or $16,221 with fringe benefits.

The staff said the problem of counting money has gotten worse since the elimination of discounts for bridge and transit users during the past year.

The committee also endorsed staff proposals to hire six poor youths part time to groom them for eventual hiring in regular district jobs.

Short Circuit

The fire which burned five automobiles in a carport at 175 Nova Albion Way in San Rafael yesterday was probably caused by electrical short circuit, according to Fire Inspector Kenneth Mazza.

Library Relocation: More Study Wanted

The question of a replacement for Larkspur's cramped library will be investigated further by the city's library board, the city council decided last night.

Presented to the council was a 10-page study recommending a 13,675-square-foot structure on the Tiscornia property at Magnolia Avenue and Bon Aire Road.

But councilmen said they need more information from the board, including the size of other libraries serving Marin communities.

Meanwhile, the council asked its planning staff to examine figures proposed in the study to determine if they are realistic. These include computations on parking needs, landscaping and population the new library would be expected to serve.

The library board's study examines space needs for a modern library and concludes a structure of 20,000 square feet ultimately will be needed. An acre of property will be required for the site, the study says.

Councilmen did not set a date for further review of the proposal.

The Larkspur City Council also:

PARKING — Introduced an ordinance limiting to two hours parking on Magnolia Avenue between King Avenue and Madrone Street. The area currently is used by commuters who park there all day.

PERSONNEL — Introduced an ordinance revising the city's personal policies, adopted in 1964. Major changes: the city manager, rather than the city council, will hire employees, and the council will not have to concur in the firing of an employee by the city manager; also, probationary periods will increase from six months to 12.

FIREMEN — Approved an agreement with the Larkspur Volunteer Firemen's Association to pay the volunteers $150 per year and $5 per drill, and $3,000 per year to the organization.

ATTORNEY — Granted a raise to City Atty. Joseph A. Forest from $33.33 per hour to $40 per hour beginning Jan. 1.

Bus Riders Increasing

An 11.7 per cent increase in patronage on its buses during the first three months of the current fiscal year was reported today by the Golden Gate Bridge District.

The count of riders between July 1 and Sept. 30 was 2,087,718, up 219,561 over the ridership in the same period last year.

Slightly more than half the increase was on local buses in Marin and Sonoma counties. This totaled 708,902 passengers, up 117,577 over last year. Transbay passenger counts grew at a slower rate because they are near capacity, while local buses are not, the district said.

More than 35 per cent of all peak hour commuters across the bridge to San Francisco use the bridge district's transit system. Its goal is to carry half of them by 1980.

HOURS: DAILY 9:30 to 5, Fri. Til 9, Closed Sunday

Due to ever increasing costs of carrying a large inventory, higher interest rates, California inventory tax, warehouse rent, insurance and handling, we have decided not to enter into a new lease at our present large warehouse location. We must reduce about ½ of our on-hand inventory. For better handling and warehousing we are relocating to a smaller warehouse. We have gone through our store and warehouse and have taken large markdowns on the majority of stock.

The Christmas Store

'Twas the month before Christmas and Throughout Old Brown's Store
Shopkeepers scurried
from door to door.
Bringing new goodies
From here and from there
For customers, soon to sample their ware.
Antiques and boutiques,
Toys and perfumes.
Big fish, little fish,
And rugs for front
rooms.
Watches to keep time with,
And banks to save dimes with,
Pendants that dangle,
And bright yarn to untangle.
Free cider, strung popcorn,
festive decor,
Even Santa brings cheer to our holiday stores.
Drop in for a visit
You'll get with the spirit of Christmas.

Birth Control Is Keyed To Hungry

NEW YORK (UPI) — In the face of steadily rising prices and dwindling food reserves, about 75 million new mouths to feed are coming into the world each year.

With the world's population increasing at a rate of nearly 2 per cent a year and an increase of 2 billion persons predicted by the year 2,000, the world's food production will have to be nearly doubled.

There is another alternative. According to a new report on the world's food supply, nations must face the fact that population growth has to be slowed while at the same time their citizens are offered programs for basic social needs.

"Without a doubt, the world's food production can and will be increased. But...there are very distinct limits to the amount by which it can be increased," the Public Affairs Committee, Inc. reports.

In the report, "Food for the World's Hungry," chairman of the nonprofit organization Maxwell S. Stewart notes that birth control goes hand in hand with economic opportunities.

"In addition to a stable food supply, millions of people need literacy and health services and educational opportunities before they will choose to limit the size of their families," Stewart says.

Stewart estimates that the world could cut its 75 million "excess" births in half for a total of less than $1 billion a year. This is roughly one tenth of the financial aid now being channeled to the developing nations.

Family planning obviously is needed, Stewart writes, but reducing population growth alone will not feed the hungry.

"This...can only be done by a comprehensive program that includes expansion of irrigation facilities, a broadened program of research, expanded fertilizer production, research management of ocean fisheries, a modernization of agricultural methods in the developing countries, land reform."

Stewart says the United States is expected to continue to be a major supplier of food on the world market for some years, but the American farmer — although doing his share with increased production — "cannot singlehandedly feed the hundreds of millions who are chronically underfed."

San Rafael Man Hurt In Wreck

A San Rafael man suffered a broken left leg when the car in which he was riding smashed into a tree along Sunset Parkway in Novato early yesterday.

Dennis Michael Dolan, 23, of 110 Altena Street, a passenger, had his leg trapped near the right fender well and it took about an hour to free him, according to the Novato Fire Department.

Dolan was riding in a car driven by Robert A. West, 26, of Oakland, which failed to make a curve and hit a tree at 530 Sunset Parkway at 12:30 a.m., according to Novato police.

West, who suffered cuts of the head and right arm, and another passenger, Christopher E. Taylor, 24, of 525 Sunset Parkway, Novato, who suffered pains of the right foot and left shoulder, were treated at Novato General Hospital.

Corte Madera's Rec Classes Set For Next Year

A large array of programs scheduled to begin after Jan. 1 is being offered by the Corte Madera Recreation Department.

Programs for adults are tennis, trimnastics, guitar, "backyard farmer," spring gardening, yoga, bridge, belly dancing, sailing, oil and acrylic painting and antiques. Prices range from $7.50 to $19.50 for residents, $2 more for nonresidents.

Children's programs are preschool play, "special day," tumbling-acrobatics, tennis, ballet, "operation Saturday," guitar, belly dancing, and judo. Fees vary.

Also planned are trips to Squaw Valley March 7-9, San Diego April 15-16, Hearst Castle and Carmel May 25-26 and Hawaii in August.

Registration for Little League, soccer, softball and girls baseball also will be taken at various times.

Southern Marin Is Blacked Out

More than 3,200 Southern Marin homes were without electrical power for up to two hours yesterday in a blackout caused by the failure of a major underground cable.

Robert H. Williams, electric superintendent for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., said the outage occurred at 1:56 p.m. Service was restored to all but 10 customers by 3:40 p.m.

Affected were homes in Strawberry and portions of Mill Valley and Tiburon.

Students To Conduct Mill Valley Concert

Student conductors will lead the Mill Valley School District advanced band and orchestra in a concert at 7:30 p.m. today at Park Elementary School, East Blithedale Avenue, the district has announced.

Middle School students Jenny Fulle and Bruce Bennett will take the baton on some selections, from regular directors Todd Fleming and Joseph Angiulo.

Belvedere Names New Attorney

Robin D. Faisant, for 15 years the city attorney for Los Altos Hills in Santa Clara County, has been named city attorney of Belvedere, City Mgr. Bruce G. Lawson announced today.

Faisant, 43, was selected for the $600 a month part-time post during a closed meeting of the city council Tuesday.

He was chosen from among 20 applicants for the job, representing five Bay Area counties, including Marin and Sonoma, according to Lawson, who was city manager at Los Altos Hills before coming to Belvedere this year.

Faisant was city attorney for Los Altos Hills from 1958 until he resigned in 1973. He now maintains a private law practice in Palo Alto, where he lives.

He completed undergraduate work at the University of Idaho and was graduated from Stanford Law School in 1958. He is divorced and the father of two children.

Jail Ordered For Food Theft

A cook who pleaded guilty to breaking into a Larkspur catering firm and stealing food has been told he must spend six months in Marin County Jail and two years on probation.

Volker Arthur Jaeger, 27, of Mill Valley, drew the sentence Monday after admitting the Sept. 3 burglary at Red Robin Caterers, 489 Magnolia Avenue.

Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best also ordered Jaeger to pay $135 to the firm for the food and a broken window, and told him to take part in a drug and alcohol rehabilitation program.

Property Owners Oppose Shopping Center

der proposals for redevelopment of the city at 7:30 p.m. today in city hall.

Comments from property owners along the north side of Fourth:

Leonard F. Fisher, owner of 802-812 Fourth, said that while it would be wonderful to have a shopping center at the foot of Fourth Street, he believes the proposal to be a dream. He said that the downtown needs "something desperate in the worst way...to attract businessmen to downtown San Rafael," and questioned whether investors can be attracted to the downtown area when Northgate is "only four miles away."

Carl K. Schieck, spokesman for Mae P. Kirner, part owner of a lot on Fourth near Lincoln Avenue, said he believes a shopping center properly belongs at the foot of Fourth Street, "rather than in Corte Madera...My reaction is a high class pedestrian mall with high class stores." He said a new shopping complex on Fourth appears to be needed since "most of the good stuff has moved out of Fourth Street to Northgate."

Part owner of a parcel on Fourth near Lootens Place who requested anonymity, opposed any new shopping centers in the city and called instead for more parking and a facelift in the downtown area. The property owner had no comment on a proposal for a pedestrian mall.

Richard F. Tyler, secretary of Marin Masonic Building Association, owner of the Marin Masonic Building at Lootens Place and Fourth, said he was unfamiliar with specific redevelopment proposals and asked "Just who's going to pay for erection of new buildings? Personally I'd like to see the pedestrian mall concept (downtown), but that's neither here nor there."

Hector A. Rubin, part owner of Penney's building and a parcel across the street at 909 Fourth, said he would support a shopping center at the foot of Fourth if the complex were tied in with existing businesses. He expressed no opinion on a pedestrian mall.

Rose Albert, owner of Macy's building at Court Street and Fourth, and part owner of Albert building and parcels at 1120-1146 Fourth, vehemently opposed any proposal for a new shopping center in town. "I'm against every redevelopment plan. I really think this town doesn't need any redevelopment," she said, adding she is among the largest property owners in San Rafael. "I want Fourth Street left alone. I'm satisfied with it and I've been here 55 years."

Jim Fuller, president of McKeon Construction Co., managers of Courthouse Square parcel, said he is uncertain about proposals for new shopping centers in San Rafael, since "I'm not sure what the city could stand in terms of square footage." A new shopping center, if approved, should be located at the foot of Fourth Street near Highway 101, he said. He said that while he believes in revitalization of the downtown area, he opposes a pedestrian mall. "I would be a little hesitant to take all that traffic off Fourth Street," he said. He said he would support a mall that allowed through traffic.

Sig K. Herzog, part owner of 1100-1118 Fourth and 1200-1212 Fourth as well as property across the street at 1101-1119 Fourth, said he favored a combination of redevelopment sketch plans three and four, including a "keyed down" version of the shopping center proposed in plan three. Doing nothing would allow shopping centers elsewhere to drain business from the downtown, but erecting a 400,000-square-foot center as proposed in plan three would "wipe out seven blocks and I don't go for that," he said. He called for beautification and more parking to attract quality businesses like Sach's Fifth Avenue to the downtown area, and said he is uncertain about a pedestrian mall downtown.

Irving Chapman, owner of 1236 and 1238 Fourth, said he supported a proposal for a 400,000-square-foot shopping center at the foot of Fourth Street since it would be "the gretest thing possible for San Rafael." He said the center should be tied in with existing Fourth Street businesses and said he opposed any plan for a pedestrian mall unless "adequate off-street parking is provided."

Marie F. Irwin, owner 1246-1250 Fourth Street, opposed proposals for shopping centers, but supported a mall if adequate parking is provided. "We've got to develop what we've got...shopping centers can come later. We need more parking in downtown San Rafael, we need all day parking."

Comments from property owners on the south side of Fourth Street:

Gideon Y. Sorokin, part owner of 803-817 Fourth, favors the mall conception over shopping centers. "There is certainly a necessity to rejuvenate the area...downtown San Rafael is the geographical center of Marin."

Silvio J. Ruffino, owner of 871 Fourth — "I'm against shopping centers. I don't care much (about) a pedestrian mall. I'd like to see everyone upgrade their buildings. I'm in favor of a facelift."

Mrs. William S. Nock, owner of 885-887 Fourth — "I have no comment on redevelopment."

Spokesmen for owners of property near Fourth and Lootens Place said San Rafael does not need new shopping centers since so many exist in Marin already. The spokesman urged more parking in downtown and a facelift and beautification effort.

Transamerica Title Co., 901-907 Fourth, unable to comment since the firm holds the property in trust for an unidentified owner.

Aaron Schwartz, owner of 915 Fourth, "I would support a 400,000-square-foot mall at the base of Fourth...it would make Fourth Street and San Rafael."

Ralph A. Vossbrink, part owner of 917-921 Fourth, "Some one is having a pipe dream (shopping centers)." However, he supported the mall idea.

Sidney Schwartz, owner of 925 Fourth, "Supposedly redevelopment is to help, not eliminate downtown San Rafael. I'm against any regional shopping centers. What is called for is a general facelifting project."

Lucile Codo, owner of 927 Fourth, unavilable for comment since she lives in Pasadena. She and Adelaide Codo are listed as owners of property also between Lootens Place and Cijos Street on the north side of Fourth.

Clyde A. Stevens, owner of 941 Fourth, "Whatever plan is approved, it must give ample parking and traffic movement and then a lot of shopping (problems) will take care of themselves. I favor the mall idea...all the city fathers have to do is to take a look at the City of Napa where the example has been set."

Duris L. Picard, 1009 Fourth Street. Property held in trust by the Bank of America which was unable to comment.

Gar C. May, owner of 1021-1041 Fourth, "I'm against any large shopping centers because they would destroy old San Rafael. I wouldn't mind a small center, but basically I'm for dressing up Fourth and would even favor a mall."

Richard L. Hibbett, owner of 1017 Fourth, "I have no comment on anything."

Jordan Dell'Era, manager of Crocker National Bank, owner of 1203 Fourth, "My thought is first that we have to solve the parking and traffic flow..." He also expressed opposition to shopping center ideas.

A VIEW FROM THE SUMMIT

Scientists in Volcano, Hawaii, said today that the rumblings under the volcanoes Mauna Loa and Kilauea were "quieting down a bit." Observatory officials last night lost contact briefly with a team of scientists scouting the summit of Mauna Loa, but the crew made its way through gale force winds to check instruments and return to Volcano late in the evening. There continued to be fears of twin eruptions of the two volcanoes for the first time in 55 years, although Bob Tilling, a seismologist, said, "Things are calming down a bit." This aerial photo, released by the U. S. Geological Survey, shows the pit craters and the three-mile long summit caldera at the top of Mauna Loa, with Mauna Kea in the background. (UPI Telephoto)

Uncle Sam Hits Organic Food Cost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers who buy organic foods may be paying nearly twice as much as shoppers who buy ordinary food, and they are not getting any better nutrition for their money, a government specialist says.

Ruth Leverton, an Agriculture Department food science adviser, said comparison shoppers checked prices on 55 common foods on the same day at a chain supermarket and a "natural" food store. A market basket containing one unit (pound or quart) of each of the 55 foods cost $55.42 in the "natural" food store and $33.31 at the supermarket, she said.

For 18 of the items, the "natural" food store prices were at least double the supermarket prices, the comparison showed.

All processed foods checked in the natural food store cost an average of 90 per cent more than their ordinary counterparts. Unprocessed fresh foods cost 64 per cent more, the report said.

Mrs. Leverton's report was included in a new Yearbook of Agriculture for 1974, published yesterday by the Agriculture Department. The new edition, titled "Shopper's Guide," is a collection of practical buying hints on items ranging from food to home appliances and vacations.

The organic food report said there is "no scientific evidence that plants grown with only organic fertilizers, or meat from animals raised only on organically-fertilized feed, have greater nutritive value than our regular food produced by the usual agricultural methods."

Further, Mrs. Leverton said, many people who think they are getting organic food are actually being made victims of a costly fraud.

"There are many indications that much more food is being sold as organic or natural than is being produced. This means that some unscrupulous marketers are deceiving the consumer and making large profits," she said.

The report said there is no way for consumers to tell the difference between organic and ordinary foods, and ethical organic food sellers "are as distressed as anyone about the possibility for fraud and deceit."

Sexuality Course Is Voted; No Complaint

The San Rafael Board of Education has approved continuation of a human sexuality course at San Rafael High School.

The course, begun on a trial basis in September, came before the board for review Tuesday night. No one from the audience objected to its continuation, according to Supt. Donald Leisey.

The course is open only to juniors and seniors and requires parental approval, Leisey said.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

LEAVES — Directed staff to check into the legality of making teachers commit themselves by Feb. 15 instead of July 1 as to whether returning from leave.

TEXT — Directed Leisey to write to the state urging an increase in the $7 the state currently provides per elementary school pupil for textbooks.

BOOK — Announced an intention to use a book entitled "Laidlaw Language Experiences Program" by Hand, Harsh, and others, in elementary school classes, and set a public hearing for Jan. 14.

WORDING — Adopted wording for a ballot argument in favor of its March 4 revenue increase measure.

JANITOR — Upheld Leisey's recommendation that Christopher L. Ewens not be hired as a substitute custodian at San Rafael High School, after hearing his father, Raymond L. Ewens, complain.

SIGNING — Authorized John Scoggin, assistant superintendent for administrative services, to sign documents on behalf of the board.

BUSES — Adopted a policy governing behavior of students on school buses.

PERSONNEL — Approved 14 appointments, three leaves and two resignations.

NEXT — Scheduled its next meeting Jan. 14 at 7:30 p.m. at Davidson Middle School.

Annex Plan Dropped For Greenwood Beach

Richardson Bay Sanitary District directors have abandoned a proposal to annex the Greenwood Beach area after protests from many of the neighborhood's 27 property owners, according to district secretary Col. Eber Russell.

The board decision came Wednesday after the Local Agency Formation Commission withdrew a previous recommendation for annexation. A large number of property owners spoke against annexation at a public hearing called by the district last month.

Behr Girds For Campaign Against No-Return Litter

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A new struggle to obtain legislation requiring deposits on soft drink and beer containers, a legislative field littered with the failures of others, was promised yesterday by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

The senator, about to return to Sacramento for a second four-year term, said his measure will apply to bottles as well as cans. Previous unsuccessful bills by other legislators imposed a deposit only on cans, he said, thus were killed by the can industry on the ground it would be put at an unfair competitive disadvantage with bottlers.

Behr, outlining his upcoming legislative program in an interview at the Independent-Journal, envisioned a nickel deposit on each container. Deposits would be collected by stores and turned over to the state in the same fashion as sales tax revenue.

Consumers would get their deposits back by turning in the containers at state depots. The system would be financed by selling the cans and bottles to manufacturers for reprocessing.

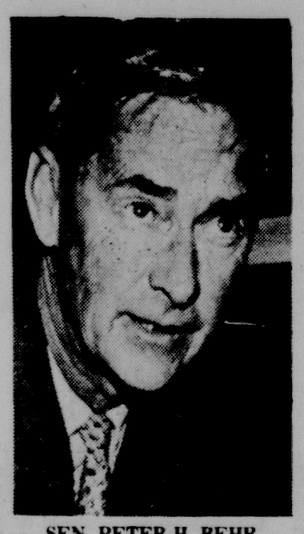
Behr said the financial success of such a system also would be aided by the fact that not all containers would get back into the reprocessing system. Anywhere from 15 to 25 per cent might not be returned, he said, thus the state would keep the deposits on them to help run the system.

The legislator said the bill was "still in a very formative stage," with details to be ironed out in the coming weeks.

About 30 other bills are being worked on by his Capitol staff, Behr said, but not all will be introduced in the new session opening Jan. 6.

He cited six retreads of earlier bills of his that were either vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan or killed in legislative committee, but also mentioned a new one that would exempt interest on savings accounts from state income tax.

The exemption would apply to the first $500 on individual accounts and the first $1,000 on joint accounts, he said. Such state legislation would help spur passage of a similar bill pending in Congress that would give citizens a tax break and encourage thrift, Behr said.



SEN. PETER H. BEHR
Aims at litter

Such legislation could come initially before the Senate Insurance and Financial Institutions Committee, which Behr was named Monday to chair. No-fault insurance also may come under his committee's jurisdiction.

Behr said he also was considering a bill to clamp a moratorium on the taking of herring in Tomales and San Francisco bays. The state Department of Fish and Game has allowed so much harvesting of the fish that it is in danger of vanishing, Behr declared.

The senator added that legislation probably also will result from hearings by the Joint Committee on Aging, which is looking into alleged abuses of old citizens by mobile home parks. He is vice chairman of the committee. Behr said the legislation could be introduced by the committee as a whole or individually by members, including himself.

Noting that his new district includes the North Coast, he said he will work closely with Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, on legislation to reform taxation of the timber industry. Z'berg is drafting legislation to shift lumber from the conventional property tax to a "yield tax" that would be imposed only on timber after it is cut.

Critics of the present system object it pressures owners of forests to cut them down prematurely, thus threatening the end of virtually all mature growth within 20 years.

Previously unsuccessful bills Behr said he expected to revive include: licensing of peace officers, speeding Medical payments, halting trafficking in confidential medical information, equalizing foster care aid so relatives get the same payments as strangers caring for foster children, increasing state subsidies for outdoor education, and exempting home improvements from increased property tax for three years.

Senator Will Retire Early

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, says he has changed his mind and will resign this month to permit Sen.-elect John H. Glenn, D-Ohio, to pick up seniority over other newly elected senators.

If Metzenbaum had stuck to his original decision to finish out his term, Glenn would have been sworn Jan. 14 along with the other freshman senators.

Metzenbaum said he will step down Dec. 23.

NOVATO SANITARY DIRECTORS VOTE THEMSELVES A RAISE

Novato Sanitary District directors last night granted themselves a raise from $40 to $50 a meeting, starting Jan. 1.

They also raised the maximum number of meetings for which they can be paid from three to four a month, according to Dist. Mgr. Charles A. Joseph.

While making the interim garbage disposal rates permanent, the board also set a weight limit of 75 pounds per can, Joseph said.

Directors also declared that an environmental impact report won't be required on the installation of a main interceptor sewer line from Franklin Avenue to South Novato Boulevard.

Approval of the project estimated to cost $404,000 will be before the board at its next meeting at 6 p.m. Dec. 30 at the district office, 500 Davidson Street, Novato.

Roumiguiere To Move Ahead On Open Space Purchase Plan

Marin County Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere said today he will move ahead with a plan for joint city-county purchase of the Nunes property and the Pinto Ridge in Terra Linda.

He said the joint purchase plan may eventually require asking voters to form a special assessment district throughout the Terra Linda valley to aid in the purchase.

Roumiguiere, who met with area residents last night to discuss the plan, said it will first be submitted to the United Homeowners' Association, a group formed to fight the city's proposed assessment district in Santa Margarita. (The city's proposed district would not require voter approval.)

The supervisor predicted the United Homeowners would endorse his plan on condition the city drop its proposed assessment district.

The city's proposal has split the Santa Margarita community with the United Homeowners heading the opposition and the Santa Margarita Homeowners' Association spearheading the support.

Roumiguiere said he has not yet developed cost figures for purchase of the two large open space areas, which form a backdrop to Terra Linda.

COLD, BUT NOT THAT COLD

It has been COOOOLD recent mornings, with frost widely reported in Marin. But one disappointed frost seeker, Independent-Journal photographer Jim Kean, couldn't find any in San Rafael on his way to work today. To show everyone what it would have looked like if there had been some he used a red filter to shoot this scene from Oakview School on Skyview Terrace. The low last night in San Rafael was 38, but frost producing temperatures were reported in Mill Valley, 32; Novato and Woodacre, both 29, and Point Reyes National Seashore, 26.

Congress Boosts Trucks' Weight, Tightens Speed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has voted to allow heavier trucks on the nation's interstate highways, a step branded as "a rape of the motorist" by the American Automobile Association.

The increased weight limits were attached to a $752.8 million federal aid for highways bill which also ordered states to enforce the 55 mile an hour speed limit under penalty of losing federal highway funds.

The bill also banned jumbo billboards which cropped up far back from the highway after Congress banned such signs within 660 feet of federal highways.

The compromise measure passed the Senate 67 to 27, then passed the House 307 to 67. President Ford's position on it is not known.

The basic increase in truck weight — the first increase allowed in 18 years — would be from the present 73,280 pounds to 80,00 pounds.

Maximum axle loadings would be increased from 18,000 to 20,000 pounds for a single axle and from 32,00 to 34,000 for a tandem axle.

But a seemingly minor clause added by a House-Senate conference committee would allow much greater increases in at least 15 states, the AAA charged.

That clause would allow states which now have higher weight limits on non-interstate highways to adopt these heavier weights on interstate highways.

Proponents of heavier trucks say it is unrealistic to keep truck weights low on interstate highways when some states allow heavier weights on other roads.

They also say the energy problem makes it desirable to carry more goods on each truck.

Over the years, the Senate has passed several bills allowing heavier trucks, but the House has consistently balked, the last time in August.

To overcome this obstacle, members of the House and Senate Public Works Committees arranged for the Senate to pass the weight increase as part of the highway bill, but to leave the weight section out of the House bill.

When some House members attempted to have the House instruct its negotiators not to accept the truck language in a House-Senate conference, they were blocked by a series of parliamentary maneuvers.

Then, when the bill went to conference, the conferees not only accepted the Senate provisions but strengthened them.

Teacher, Student Assaults Up; Educators, Police Trade Jibes

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Teacher and student assaults are on the upswing in California schools while educators and policemen are blaming each other for the growing problem, a state report indicated today.

"Many school administrators hold onto a tenuous authority never knowing day to day what crisis will occur," an ad hoc committee appointed by Attorney General Evelle Younger and Schools Superintendent Wilson Riles reported.

In an interim report, the committee said there is little or no coordination between local officials until after an assault or crime occurs.

"School teachers and administrators tend to criticize police and the courts for sending youthful assaulters right back to the same school within days after the assault," the report said.

"Law enforcement personnel often criticizes schools for failure to carry out their responsibility to report crime or to work together for solutions," it continued.

The committee — officially known as the Ad Hoc Committee on the Prevention and Management of Conflict and Crime in the Schools—was created last spring and will have a final report and recommendations next March.

The interim report said information collected during a series of meetings last summer indicates assaults on school personnel and students were on the upswing.

It also said vandalism is costing schools millions of dollars annually and fear and conflict are disputing "the peaceful climate necessary for learning."

"Because of the immediate nature of the problem of violent incidents on many school campuses, students, parents and school personnel continue to express fear for safety of persons and property," Younger and Riles said in the report.

They said a subcommittee in the project has recommended that all school districts take the first steps toward developing a written "crisis plan" for each local high school campus.

No Extension Forecast On Offers Of Clemency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite the poor response, President Ford probably will not extend the Jan. 31 deadline on his offer of clemency to Vietnam War resisters, according to Clemency Board Chairman Charles Goodell.

"I think this is the only clemency program you are going to see in the near future," Goodell said yesterday, noting the deadline is only six weeks away.

Goodell told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee his panel would make 100 more clemency recommendations to Ford within two weeks, most of them for military deserters.

Only 800 of the 119,000 men who evaded the draft, went AWOL or deserted between Aug. 4, 1964, and March 28, 1973, have applied for amnesty since the program began Sept. 18, Goodell said. The program expires Jan. 31.

However, Goodell said, "I don't think the President would extend it even if I would recommend it."

Goodell said his board was preparing more than 8,000 letters to be delivered to the last known addresses of some of the draft evaders eligible for the program. But he acknowledged there was little chance they could be accepted into Ford's "earned reentry" program before the deadline.

"The clemency board is not in the business of trying to recruit, solicit or persuade," Goodell added.

Dutch Bank Paid Off On LA Check

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — More than $800,000 of the money apparently defrauded from the city of Los Angeles was paid by a Dutch bank early this month to a man identified by Interpol as an international swindler, police said today.

The man told the bank he would return a few days later to pick up nearly $100,000 more in defrauded funds but never showed up, thwarting a police trap for him.

The funds were from a forged check for $902,125 which moved through four banks in three countries. The check was one of 18 stolen from a tightly guarded room at city hall in a suspected Mafia operation.

Chief Police Superintendent Gerald J. Torenaar said that early this month a man who identified as Aime Nassif, a Lebanese citizen, contacted Hollandsche Bank Unie here to check if they had received a money order of almost $900,000 to his name from a company in Switzerland.

When the bank confirmed the order, Nassif said he would pick up $810,000 and the money was paid to him on Dec. 6, Torenaar said.

Nassif told the bank he would return for the remaining funds a few days later but he never showed up.

"By that time, a bank inspection showed the payment was apparently based on fraud," the officer said.

"For days we lay in wait at the bank for Nassif but he never turned up again."

Torenaar said police checked with Interpol and learned that Nassif "was in their records as an international swindler."

Police have not been able to learn where Nassif stayed in Amsterdam before he picked up the money.

"This looks a nice example of one of the latest pages in the book of crime — the computer fraud," Torenaar said.

Los Angeles has refused to honor the forged check and city officials said European banks will be stuck for the money. Nine of the stolen checks are still missing.

Ford Shifts White House Channels

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On paper, the changes seem quite small.

But President Ford appeared to be signaling a clean break with the isolation that characterized the Oval Office during the Nixon years in unveiling a new organization of the White House staff and operations yesterday.

"The biggest change is the President himself," said Donald Rumsfeld, one of four men given broadest responsibilities under the plan.

"He's a different individual and he behaves in a way that suits him — his approach to the job, his dealings with the staff ... are pure Jerry Ford."

Ford's new blueprint gave no indication what role he would assign to Nelson Rockefeller, even though the vice presidential nominee was expected to win final congressional confirmation today.

Also left uncertain was the extent of reshuffling that Ford plans to do at the cabinet level.

Two cabinet members, Attorney General William Saxbe and Transportation Secretary Claude Brinegar, have submitted resignations in recent days and more were expected shortly.

Edward Levi, University of Chicago president, was understood to be in line for Saxbe's post and Brinegar's job was expected to go to John Robson, a Chicago attorney who served as the Transportation Department's top lawyer during the Johnson administration.

In other shifts, Ford was said to have decided to transfer Housing Secretary James Lynn to replace Budget Director Roy Ash, but to have chosen no successor yet for Kenneth Cole, who stepped down as his top domestic policy adviser.

Under the realignment of White House staff and operations, which has been evolving since shortly after Ford took office Aug. 9, the President assigned responsibility for "the full range of policy issues" to Rumsfeld, presidential counselors Robert Hartmann and John Marsh, and legal counsel Philip Buchen.

The White House said those four aides and five others would be reporting directly to Ford.

Among the others are economic policy coordinator William Seidman, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in his capacity as special assistant to the President for national security, and Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

The White House said one objective of the new organizational structure is to make Ford adequately accessible to cabinet officers, members of Congress and his own top aides.

A lack of access was a hallmark of the Nixon administration, and Rumsfeld said that Ford wanted to assure himself a broad range of opinions and advice in dealing with the nation's problems.

Ford's plan also was said to represent an attempt to get staff responsibilities and functions "clearly defined" and "specifically assigned."

Critics have said that the President has been slow to get a grip on some of the most pressing national dilemmas, including the energy situation and the ailing economy.

It has been charged that the White House decision-making process at times has reached the point of "chaos."

Jackson Says Ford Obstinant On Energy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., blames obstinance in the Ford administration for killing last minute efforts to pass an energy conservation bill.

Jackson said in a Senate speech yesterday that because of the admimistration's refusal to oppose controversial amendments to the mandatory conservation measure — especially a proposal to deregulate natural gas price — the bill is dead for this session.

"The administration seems more interested in profits for the oil and gas industry than in enacting the authority necessary to conserve energy," he said. He said the administration remains "immobile and obstinate, blocking all needed efforts to protect the well-being of the nation."

In related developments Wednesday:

A Rutgers University economist told the Senate Budget Committee that the petroleum industry appears to be holding oil and gas off the market in hopes prices will soon reach "exorbitant" levels.

The witness, Paul Davidson, urged adoption of government policies to counter such speculative withholdings.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., proposed a one-year energy conservation program he said "could break the grip of worldwide inflation and recession and ease the threat of collapse of the world monetary order."

He proposed five measures to cut U.S. oil consumption by 10 per cent. They were: a 10-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax rising to 20 cents in 1976, a tax incentive program for new car purchases based on fuel economy, repeal of the deductibility of state and local gas taxes, strict enforcement of the 55 mile per hour speed limit and abolition of the highway trust fund.

10 Big Corporations Pay No Income Tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ten major corporations with combined profits of nearly $1 billion paid no federal income tax in 1973 because the tax laws let them, says Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio.

In his third annual survey of tax payments of 160 major U.S. corporations, Vanik said yesterday there were 20 other corporations, with profits of $5.3 at effective rates of 10 per cent or less.

"Let me stress," Vanik said in a House floor speech, "that these corporations have done nothing illegal in lowering their tax rates. They have simply taken advantage, quite effectively, of the magnitude of tax subsidies which have been enacted into the tax laws over the years."

The 10 companies that paid no tax, according to Vanik, were:

Freeport Minerals Co., Texas Gulf Inc., United Airlines, Trans World Airlines, ConEd of New York, American Electric Power, Western Bancorporation, Chemical New York Corp., Bankers Trust N.Y. Corp. and Continental Illinois Corp.

The second 20, and their effective rates of income taxation, were:

International Harvester Co., (0.05), Kennecott Copper Corp. (0.4), LTV Corp. (1.2), Anaconda Company (1.4), Occidental Petroleum Corp. (1.8), Texaco Inc. (2.3), Chase Manhattan Corp. (2.5), Gulf Oil Corp. (3.1), McDonnell Douglas Rorp. (3.2), Standard Oil of Ohio (3.5), El Paso Natural Gas Company (4.5), Mobil Oil (5), Uniroyal Inc. (6.5), International Minerals & Chemicals (7.1), Chrysler Corp. (7.5), Gulf & Western Industries (7.6), National Cash Register Co. (9), Southern Railway (9.1), Union Oil Co. of California (9.6) and Continental Oil (9.9).

Wallace Gets Boat From Staff

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace accepted a $4,000 boat as his Christmas present from his cabinet and staff last night and pondered out loud whether he could use it on the Potomac River.

"You don't think it would operate on the Potomac, do you?" he added jokingly.

Teachers' Union Strength Shifts

The balance of power apparently has shifted in the Novato teacher ranks, giving the Novato Teachers Association the majority over the Novato Federation of Teachers.

Novato Unified School District trustees received word Tuesday night that the NFT, which had a nine-member-edge in the October count, had 18 less members than it claimed.

At stake is the majority of seats on the teachers' bargaining group, the Certificated Employees Council.

The NFT, affiliated with the AFL-CIO, and the NTA, affiliated with the California Teachers Association, have been battling for supremacy for the past several years and it appeared in October that the NFT had gained the majority for the first time.

The Novato Unified School District Board also:

RETIREMENT — Formally acknowledged the retirement of Supt. James G. Bunker, previously announced, effective June 27, 1975.

RESTAURANT — Approved a regional occupational training program whereby students will operate a 50-seat restaurant at the Novato High School cafeteria next semester.

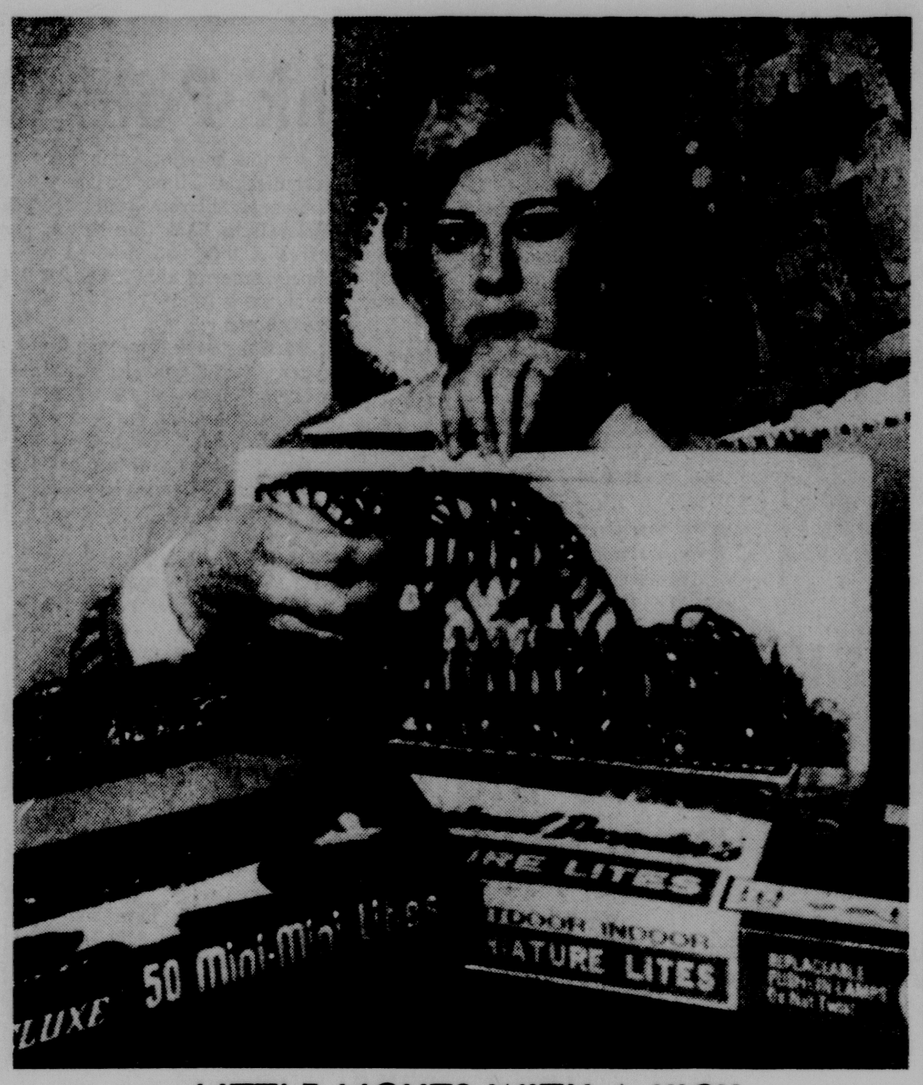
NEW COURSE — Adopted a new course for junior and senior high schools in bachelor living, which will cover aspects of living alone.

LITTLE LEAGUE — Gave notice that an environmental impact report isn't required for use of the Novato hills site, near Novato High School, by the Little League.

STUDENT PASSES — On the recommendation of Trustee Berry Machado agreed to request the Marin Transit and Golden Gate Bridge District to provide student bus passes.

GIFT — Received $250 from the Loma Verde Little League, $250 from the Lu Sutton School Parent-Teacher Association and $10 from Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan for the Marion School Parent-Teacher association.

MEETINGS — Adjourned to a closed session at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow to review 11 applicants for the job of district superintendent with interviews tentatively scheduled for Saturday and possibly Sunday. The next regular meeting will be 8 p.m. Jan. 14 at Novato High School lecture hall.



LITTLE LIGHTS WITH A KICK

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission yesterday warned consumers that approximately 300,000 sets of indoor-outdoor miniature Christmas lights sold nationwide over the past two years could present severe hazard of electric shock and fire. The lights, displayed by Vane Wheeler of the commission have exposed metal contacts in the female end connector and loose or exposed bare wire connections. S. S. Kresge Co. and Noma Manufacturing and Import Co. joined in the warning.

Water District To Insist On Testimony Under Oath

Marin Municipal Water District directors yesterday decided that applicants for variances under the district's ban on new water connections must testify under oath.

"We know that in some instances there have been stretches of the truth," director John M. McPahil Jr. said of the past applicants for variances. He said he had learned of two such cases.

"In one we granted the variance and in the other we denied it," he told the board. He did not name the applicants.

In voting for the oath requirement, directors agreed they must do everything in their power to insure that they hear accurate testimony.

The Marin Municipal Water District Board also:

LARKSPUR TERMINAL — Approved a pipeline extension agreement with the Golden Gate Bridge District for the Larkspur Ferry Terminal to install 8-inch and 16-inch mains. The estimated $49,000 cost will be paid by the bridge district.

ANTENNA — Approved an $11,200 contract with Tele-Vue Systems Inc. for one-year lease renewal at the Glenwood Forest Tank.

EMERGENCY — Approved an agreement for emergency repairs with the Stinson Beach County Water District, costs to be paid by the Stinson district.

WATER — Heard a staff report that the district systematically was replacing some 1,500 lead meter connections with plastic and would check water in existing lead connections for lead content.

SERVICE — Requested staff to report in January on the number of yet unused service connections granted by the district before its moratorium in April, 1973.

PIPING — Called for bids on piping to the Canon Village tank site off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Fairfax.

CLOSED — Met in closed session to review legal fees of Atty. Tom Thorner.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 1 p.m., Jan. 8 at the district office, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera.

Cotati Traffic Plan Sent To Committee

A two-phase plan for rerouting traffic through Cotati's hexagonal plaza has been selected by the City Council for further study.

Councilmen voted unanimously Tuesday to refer the matter to the General Plan Citizens Committee, a 30-member group which will be selected next month.

The plan comprises two of the half-dozen tentative ones which have been under consideration during recent months.

Traffic engineer Renato Martinez told the council the project's cost is currently estimated at about $512,000.

It would begin, he said, with a $110,000 reconstruction of the center of the hub, which is now the intersection of the north-south Old Redwood Highway, West Sierra Avenue and East Cotati Avenue, with both latter streets beginning in the plaza and extending across the city. The remainder of the work would include rebuilding all six of the streets which form the hub, eventually allowing better traffic flow and upgrading of park areas.

The council was told the general concept is flexible enough to allow as few as 284 or as many as 416 parking spaces.

The Cotati City Council also:

COMMISSIONS — Reappointed planning commissioners John Norton, Robert Davis and Adrienne Swenson, and recreation commissioners Jan Dolinsek, Anthony Tusler, Eleanor Miller and Joseph Turner, all of whose current terms expire Dec. 31.

POLICE — Hired James E. Brown, a senior in management at Sonoma State College, as a city patrolman. The former police reservist is the first black officer in the city. He is a former resident of Ohio, where he attended Kent State and Youngstown universities.

REVIEW — Received a request by the semiofficial police advisory committee for creation of a more powerful citizen-police commission.

POLICY — Made it official policy to interview applicants for city board positions in public meetings, as has been done during the past year.

Wilson To Visit Ford Next Month

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson will visit President Ford in Washington next month after a brief stopover in Canada.

Wilson's office announced yesterday he will first spend a day in Ottawa Jan. 29 conferring with Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, and then spend Jan. 30 and 31 in Washington.

Kaiser Layoff

OAKLAND (UPI) — Kaiser Cement & Gypsum Corp. yesterday said they will temporarily lay off 285 hourly production employes at five plants during the holidays.,

Petaluma Planners Tell Salvage Yard: Clean Up Or Lose Permit

The wrath of the Petaluma Planning Commission has come down on a local salvage yard operator — after a two-year delay.

Commissioners Tuesday told Allen D. Stack, who operates an auto wrecking business at 850 Lakeville Highway, that his use permit would be revoked if he didn't clean up his premises before the end of the month.

Stack, who was first ordered to clean up his collection of old cars in August, 1972, told the commission he has given up his lease on the offending property and will vacate it before the deadline.

Planning Director Frank Gray reminded the commission that it first threatened to pull Stack's permit in 1972, giving him until Dec. 20 of that year to clean up. But the city failed to follow through, he said.

The planning commission also rejected a request by the Conolly Development Co. to put wood rather than stone walls on its new restaurant and office building in the Washington Square shopping center in East Petaluma. The move, according to the developer, was planned for economy's sake. Commissioner Fred V. Mattei, who also sits on the city council and is a downtown merchant, called the proposal a downgrading of the building.

Limited Technology Seen As Geothermal Drawback

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Corporate prospectors for geothermal power say limited technology — not the prospect of increased future profits — is holding down their development of potentially large holdings of the energy resource in the Imperial Valley.

Major developers, including two oil companies, told a hearing this week that limited technology and cheaper alternative fuels had hindered geothermal development in the Southern California desert.

But researchers from the University of California at Riverside charged the developers gobbled up 143,000 acres of private land with potential development over 10 years without producing electricity from the clean energy resource. They said companies were sitting on development in hopes of increasing future profits.

The hearing held by the Senate subcommittee on geothermal resources was called to determine if state action is needed to speed geothermal development.

After the hearing, subcommittee chairman Ralph Dills, D-Gardena, told a newsman: "I don't think we could conclude that there has been any foot-dragging by the industry."

Union Oil, Standard Oil, Southern Pacific Land Co. and Magma Power Co. are the major lease-holders in the valley with rights to geothermal exploration over a 224-square-mile area.

Dr. Carel Otte, mice president and manager of Union Oil's geothermal division, said Union had drilled almost 200 "heat test" wells on its lease holdings to find geothermal fields that would be clean enough to produce electricity with present day technology.

"No deposit yet found there fulfills all of the basic requirements," he said.

However, he said exploratory wells would be drilling shortly on lease holds that have shown promise south of the Salton Sea.

Unlike relatively clean underground steam tapped at the Geysers in Northern California, Otte said the fluids found in the Imperial Valley were highly corrosive and had proved impossible to handle with existing equipment and technology.

"It is difficult to see how any change in actual time requirements from what has been proven necessary to bring a project to commercial operating levels could be legislated for private or public lands," he said.

Otte said that "with everything going smoothly," it could take more than 10 years fom the time of leasing to the time power is generated by geothermal resources.

UC researcher Michael Sullivan, reiterating conclusions drawn in a previously issued report, told the subcommittee the major concerns "are doing the minimum amount of development work necessary to produce a competitive posture" against the day when energy produced from geothermal resources will be profitable.

"It already is profitable," Sullvan said. "It is simply not profitable enough."

He said development in the Imperial Valley "appears virtually nil" now with only a "modest expectation" it would increase substantially in the coming years.

Study Says Gasoline Still A Good Bargain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At 80 cents a gallon, gasoline would consume the same share of median family income as it did in 1955, according to a new gas price study.

The study, printed in the quarterly The Public Interest, was conducted by B. Bruce-Briggs, who noted that retail gasoline prices moved from 29.07 cents in 1955 to 53.71 cents by May, 1974 — not quite double. At the same time, median family income advanced from $4,421 to about $13,000 —almost triple.

"Even with the recent sharp increases in price, gasoline remains relatively cheaper than it was in the early 1960s," Bruce-Briggs said.

The study said that 1,000 gallons of gas at 50 cents a gallon would take a 4.2 per cent bite of annual median family income. Gas at 80 cents would take 6.7 per cent of the annual medial family income and that $1 would take 8.3 per cent.

"A price of 80 cents a gallon merely returns gasoline to its 1955 level relative to median family income," Bruce-Briggs said.

The study said that "price increases are relatively more expensive for lower income groups. But the solution for them is simple — go to cars that burn less gas.

"If gasoline prices continued to climb, we may reasonably expect the permanent shift to less thirsty automobiles."

Mental Ills Helped By Diet Change

LONDON (UPI) — A British psychiatrist has reported success in treating mental illness through a change in the patient's diet.

Dr. Richard Mackarness estimated that a third of all mental illness is likely to be the result of unrecognized food allergies.

Writing in the National Association of Mental Health magazine, Mind Out, he claimed 75 per cent success during the past 10 years in testing his dietary theory.

For example, he said, one woman patient had been badly disturbed for seven years and was in and out of hospitals 13 times. He made her fast for five days and then carried out controlled changes in her diet.

He said he found she was sensitive to eggs, cereal, instant coffee, veal, tongue, ham and chocolate. Eliminating these from her diet, she was able to give up all drugs and was no longer depressed.

"Her general practitioner could hardly recognize her and didn't believe she was no longer on drugs," he said.

Nixon Tax Lawyer Sent To Prison

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Edward L. Morgan, the young lawyer who falsified papers to help Richard M. Nixon obtain a massive, undeserved tax deduction, today was sentenced to four months in prison.

Chief U.S. District Judge George L. Hart, sternly rebuking Morgan as a man who "wilfully betrayed" his public and professional trust, imposed a two-year sentence but ordered that all but four months be probation.

Morgan, 36, pleaded guilty Nov. 8 to a single count of conspiracy to impair, impede, defeat and obstruct the proper and government functions of the Internal Revenue Service. The charge is a felony and Morgan could have received as much as five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

As a deputy counsel in 1970, Morgan prepared a deed donating Nixon's pre-presidential papers to the United States —a gift for which Nixon ultimately claimed a $576,000 income tax deduction.

The IRS, after a lengthy investigation, last year disallowed that claim and required Nixon and his wife to pay nearly $500,000 in back taxes from 1969 through 1973.

The IRS and a congressional joint commitee on internal revenue taxation ruled that the deed had been executed one year after it was dated by Morgan — thus indicating the gift of the papers had not been made at the time the deduction was claimed.

In sentencing Morgan, Hart said it was his most difficult decision. He called Morgan a man "universally admired and respected by his peers, a man of brilliant intellectual abilities and attainments" who had made "one terrible mistake in an effort to serve with misplaced loyalty a superior who held the highest office in this land."

Morgan, a huge man with a bristling black mustache, listened with head bowed as his lawyer, Richard C. VanDusen of Detroit, pleaded for mercy.

Hart ordered that Morgan, who lives in Los Angeles, surrender at the minimum security federal prison at Lompoc on Jan. 6.

French, Germans Put Up Satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Symphonie, a French-German experimental communications satellite, was launched successfully by a Delta rocket last night.

Thirty minutes later, officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the 886-pound satellite appeared to have gone into a good orbit.

Minor Quakes

PASADENA (UPI) — Two small earthquakes shook Los Angeles County early today, waking thousands of residents but causing no apparent damage.

Personal Income Shows A Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The slowdown in the nation's economy cut sharply into individual income in November with industrial payrolls down 2.5 per cent — or $7 billion at an annual rate — from October, the Commerce Department reported yesterday.

It said overall personal income of Americans declined two-tenths of one per cent, or $2.2 billion at an annual rate, following an increase of six-tenths of 1 per cent or $7 billion the previous month.

The decline in personal income was the first since January, when it was down $100 million, and the biggest since July 1971, when the drop was $1.4 billion, also at an annual rate.

Tapes' Release Protested —Fear Of Party Humor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon's lawyers argued today a court decision allowing his Watergate tapes to be copied for public broadcast means they will turn up at cocktail parties and in comedy acts to the everlasting embarassment of the former president.

In a brief filed in U.S. District Court, Nixon's lawyers asked Judge Gerhard A. Gesell, to remove a technical legal barrier so they can immediately appeal his order releasing the tapes publicly once the Watergate cover-up trial is over.

If the order stands, they said, every future demand for Nixon's tapes would have to be weighed partly on the basis that it "will likely be reproduced in the form of casettes and phonograph records to be played at cocktail parties, to be used in comedy acts or dramatic productions, and otherwise be exploited for every purpose and in every manner that may occur to the imaginative, the enterprising, or the antagonistic recipients of the copies."

They said Nixon has the right to keep his tapes secret since they may prove "embarassing not only to him but to others whose voices appear on the tapes in candid conversations never intended to be publicly aired."

They said the tapes could also prove embarassing to those persons discussed in the Nixon meetings who were referred to "perhaps in the kind of off-hand or blunt remarks common in private coversations between close associates."

At the request of the three major broadcast networks, Gesell ruled Dec. 5 that copies of the Nixon tapes introduced as evidence at the cover-up trial could be made available to them for broadcast on radio and television. His order will not become final until after the trial is over, probably next week.

Nixon's lawyers asked him to finalize the order now so that they may appeal. They charged that release of the tapes would make them available for "every imaginable scheme for commercial exploitation of the conversations."

They said Nixon has a legal right to protect their confidentiality and "not to have them disseminated, advertised, broadcast, and otherwise trumpeted" beyond the necessity for use as evidence in criminal trials."

Distillers Defend Their Use Of Grain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cutting back liquor production to free the grain used in distilling for the world's hungry would have little effect — except on the U.S. economy, according to a spokesman for the domestic liquor industry.

At a news conference yesterday, the president of the Distilled Spirits Council of the United States, Malcolm Harris, said liquor manufacturers are "very concerned" over such slogans as "Produce food, not liquor."

The suggestion that the liquor industry shut down or cut back was made by nutritionist Jean Mayer at the recent World Food Conference in Rome.

Harris said the alcohol distilling process uses no rice, the leading grain food for most undernourished people. He also said only .5 per cent of the corn crop is used in distilling, .005 per cent of the wheat crop, and "minuscule" amounts of rye and barley.

Furthermore, he said, distillers have for 25 years been recycling the grain as high-protein animal feeds, assuring "continuing supplies of high quality meat' milk, eggs and butter for the American consumer."

Harris, who said distillers would be happy to help in any way possible to alleviate the world hunger problems, recalled that in 1947 there was a voluntary cutback by the industry so grains could be shipped abroad.

But he said that effort was a disaster, because most of the grain never made it overseas, and what did was promptly used in the distilling process, not to feed the hungry.

Cutbacks in liquor production, he said, would severely affect the industry's 1.9 million workers and cut into the $16.4 billion in goods and services they buy, which Harris said would "come right off the Gross National Product."

Harris said the $5.1 billion a year his industry pays in federal taxes trails only corporate and personal income tax as a source of revenue.

Udall Links Strip Mining Veto To Coal Crackdown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., warned President Ford today a veto of the strip mining bill will result in an even tougher environmental crackdown on the coal industry.

"I think it's very clear there be a will be a tougher bill — and fairly early," said Udall, who has already announced as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976.

"There will be impatience (in Congress) with delay."

Ford has not indicated what action he will take on the compromise bill, now on his desk. But administration spokesmen have voiced fears by the President that citizen suits under the regulatory bill may cut coal production in a time of energy stress.

Udall said, however, he felt the bill will double U.S. coal production in the next 10 years and at the same time force the industry to reclaim lands scarred by strip mining.

He told a National Press Club breakfast that Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb, a critic of the bill, "is simply parroting the industry and assuming federal judges are idiots."

"The idea that an angry little old lady with a typewriter is going to slow down the whole coal industry is ridiculous," Udall said.

Asked if he might drop out of the presidential race at a later date, Udall replied: "I'm going all the way. I'm still a longshot, but less of a longshot now."

GET MUSHROOMS AT THE MARKET

These mushrooms, picked near Phoenix Lake, are highly poisonous and one bite could prove fatal, according to botanists. They are the amanita phalloides species, whose spores have become transplanted into fields of edible mushrooms in the Bay Area in recent years. Because the deadly variety (called "death cap") looks so much like a common safe variety of amanita, Loraine Berry of Larkspur, who teaches a class on mushrooms at the Boyd Museum of Science, advises against picking any wild mushrooms in the county. The last mushroom poisoning death in Marin was in 1972.

Disney, Sierra Club To Cooperate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Sierra Club and Walt Disney Productions have reached a first-of-its-kind agreement to study cooperatively the impact of a proposed ski resort on the Sierra Nevada environment.

Involved is Disney's plan to establish a ski resort and year-round recreation area at Independence Lake in the wilds north of Lake Tahoe. In all, up to 19,500 acres of private and public land would be included.

The Sierra Club traditionally finds itself in opposition to such developments as it did when the federal government sought to open up to ski resort development the Mineral King area of the central Sierra.

The agreement to study cooperatively the Independence Lake project's impact on the fragile northern Sierra environment and exchange information is a first for both the developer and the conservation organization, officials of both said yesterday.

"In the past, we get in on the end of the process once the developer has his plan nailed down," said Michael McCloskey, executive director of the Sierra Club. "We and the rest of the public have been given a take-it-or-leave it option."

"In this instance," he said, "we've established an open channel of communication so we can learn about impacts and alternatives before the plan is frozen into concrete and too far along to be changed," he said.

Jim Stewart, a Disney vice president, concurred, adding, "We want to work together to avoid, analyze and solve any environmental problems that could occur."

The club's Mother Lode chapter, which includes 5,700 members, recently voted to take "no position" on Disney's proposal for independence Lake. Instead, it decided to appoint a "task force" to study environmental concerns with Disney and delay taking a position until the work was complete.

Depending on the results of feasibility and environmental studies, Disney envisions a "family-oriented," all-weather recreation area and ski resort at the man-made lake in Sierra County.

The "task force" will examine such potential problems as waste disposal, possible encroachment into the nearby Castle Peak roadless area and the impact of the project on wildlife, rare plants, the endangered Lahontan cutthroat trout and flow of water into northern Nevada's Pyramid Lake.

The Disney proposal envisions use of 7,300 acres of land owned by the Southern Pacific Land Co., 2,200 by the Sierra Pacific Power Co., and 10,000 acres held by the U.S.Forest Service. Spokesmen said development would occur on about five per cent of the private land while the remainder would remain "natural."

The Sierra Club said it also will study the potential for "urbanization" of private lands within the Tahoe National Forest as a "project-induced" result.

Under the Disney proposal, it would be late next year before it was decided whether to proceed with the project. If it was both environmentally safe and economically feasible, Stewart said, construction might start late in 1976.

College Extends Bidding Deadline

The Marin Community College District still is seeking bids for a major phase of building at Indian Valley Colleges near Novato.

Date for opening the sealed bids has been extended from tomorrow to Jan. 13 to give contractors time to apply, according to Earlene Jones, district publicist.

The project, in the half-million-dollar range, consists of a library and a four-building cluster which will be used for teaching science, technology and mathematics.

The library is to be a two-story structure of 17,909 square feet allowing for staff offices, student study spaces and room for 33,000 books.

The cluster, dubbed 'College C,' is the third of three such complexes. The arts-humanities cluster and the social-behavioral sciences cluster have been built.

College C will be 43,481 square feet and will house study space, a snack bar, four laboratories, 17 faculty offices, and classrooms for 101 students.

An auto shop, also planned as part of the cluster, will go out for bids later, Mrs. Jones said.

Irrigation Project Is Approved

The North Marin County Water District Board has agreed that a proposed water reclamation project to irrigate Highway 101 bypass landscaping won't have a significant adverse impact on the environment.

The district, in conjunction with the State Department of Transportation and the Novato Sanitary District, plans to use the reclaimed water on 22 acres next spring and an additional 25 acres in the spring of 1976.

Directors Tuesday night also approved increasing water rates 10 cents per 100 cubic feet to users outside the Point Reyes Improvement District since they aren't taxed by the district. The users are on the fringe of the district.

The North Marin County Water District Board also:

SALARIES — Deferred consideration of mid-year salary hikes based on the cost of living until the Bay Area Consumer Price Index figures for the end of the year are available.

APPEAL — Denied an appeal by Alfred Bellunci of a $474 claim filed against him for a water meter relocation required when he widened a driveway on his property.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Jan. 7 at the district office, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato.

Mobster's Life Takes Heavy Toll

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — A huge cigar hung from the wrinkled mouth of the old man and a Russian fur hat covered his head from the cold of winter.

"He gives the appearance of being 95. He's only 72. He doesn't know what's going on," said attorney Phil Cardarella.

Police arrested the aged, overweight man Tuesday as he stood in a used car lot owned by a relative. He was just in town to see his family.

But the routine arrest prompted city-wide recollections of the raucous, bawdy days of gambling, bootlegging and organized crime in the 1920s and 30s.

CARHLES V. CARROLLO
In better days

The man was Charles V. Carrollo, deported to his native Sicily 20 years ago as an undesirable alien for his role as one of the city's top organized crime chiefs.

Carrollo refused to tell authorities how he entered the country, but it was reported he has returned occasionally in the past 20 years to see his children and grandchildren.

"The man's family is here," younger brother Joseph said. "What other reason does he need for coming back?"

Carrollo, now looking far older than his years, served several terms in federal prisons at Leavenworth and Alcatraz for perjury, income tax evasion and illegal liquor trafficking. He never became a U.S. citizen.

Cardarella said he would fight attempts to deport Carrollo again.

Marinites Remember The Old Folks' Homes At Yule

Old people in residential care centers in Marin County have Christmas trees, carolers, gifts from the management and holiday dinners. Most have families to take them home on Christmas day.

Some old folks have no one.

Twenty of the 47 seniors at the Cottage Residential Care Center in San Rafael will remain there for Christmas dinner. People may call and invite them to their homes on Christmas, but should come in first to talk about arrangements, said Jo Ann Bales, R.N., assistant administrator.

"We love to have people come here to visit. We encourage any groups that entertain to come any time during the year. The old people enjoy their singing and their youth," she said.

VOLUNTEERS MAY come to take the elderly out for a walk on a one-to-one basis, she said. Prospective volunteers should talk with her first, so she can match them with senior citizens of similar interests.

Some groups volunteer there every year. Carolers sing in the halls, such as second graders from San Domenico Lower School. The Needlework Guild gives gifts to those who have no one. The Inverness Garden Club decorates the halls with holly and provides a gift for every resident.

At the Sans Souci Retirement Center in Kentfield, manager Sally Yoder reports that people have called to invite several of its 15 residents into their homes for Christmas dinner.

"It's beautiful," she said. "More volunteers are calling than usual. I wonder if it's because of financial troubles (due to inflation) that people are becoming more sympathetic to the problems of others."

The scouts contact the Sans Souci every year, but she has also received calls out of the blue from people, individuals who want to do things such as shopping or decorating.

AT GOLDEN YEARS Guest Home in San Anselmo, manager Marion O'Neal, R.N., said that anyone is welcome. "Just come in and say that you want to talk with the old people," she said.

There are decorations and youngsters to liven things up. The Camp Fire Girls from Wade Thomas School brought and decorated a tree. Fifth graders from Larkspur-Corte Madera School made a gingerbread house. Carolers brought goodies, visited and sang.

"Mine are pretty well taken care of because they all have families," Mrs. O'Neal said.

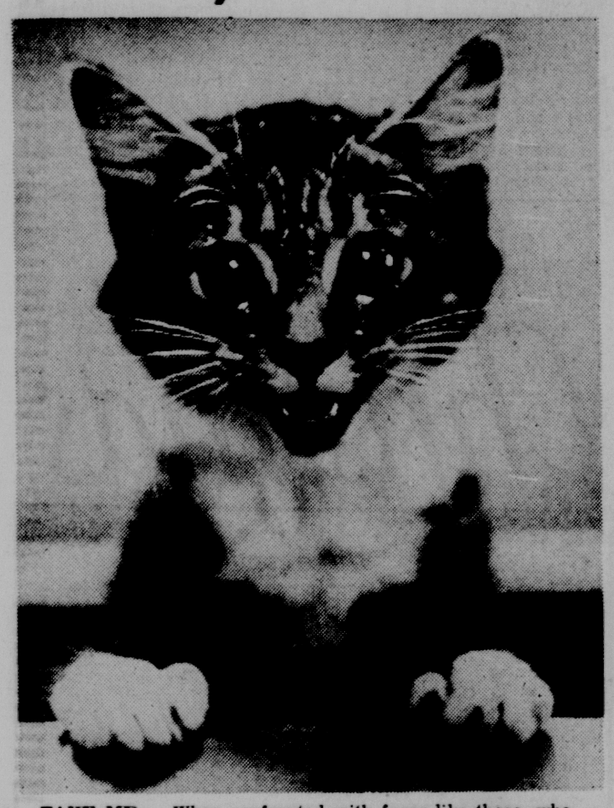
The 24 old folks who live in the four houses in Santa Venetia operated by Austin and Ruth Parfitt would welcome little gifts of cookies and candies, visits from carolers and invitations to Christmas dinner, Parfitt said. Phone calls would be a sympathetic outreach, good for the seniors.

THE ELDERLY enjoy the whole idea of the holidays and the anticipation, he said. Mr. and Mrs. Parfitt give the old folks gifts and a festive holiday meal. They take them to their churches on Christmas Day and to special Christmas programs at the Whistlestop planned by Candy Mensacalco.

Laverne Wells, manager of Idylwild Rest Home in Woodacre, said that 27 people have already come with cookies and breads, besides the choirs from churches and carolers. All her seniors have families.

"I would so much rather see some poor little thing who has no one get gifts from people in the community," she said.

Holidays Can Be Hard On The Pet Set



TAKE ME — When confronted with faces like these, who wouldn't want a pet to take home for Christmas? Unfortunately, according to officials at the Humane Society where these animals are available for purchase, too many "living gifts," welcomed at Christmastime, soon return to the society as strays. (Photos by Alfred Arn)

Christmas pets too often become New Year's strays.

It happens, warns a spokesman for the Marin Humane Society, because the giver forgets that a fluffy pup or kitten may not be truly wanted or affordable to the receiver.

A pet makes a beautiful gift, says John Gill, director of the society, but, he warns, "make sure the family wants an animal and has the means to care for it."

"Don't get a St. Bernard for a family that lives in an apartment," he said.

If the receiver is a child, make sure he or she understands that any pet — whether a guinea pig or a puppy — must be treated as a living animal, not a toy.

While other parts of the country are reporting that humane societies are feeling the economic slump with overpopulated animal shelters, Marin's pet adoption rate is on the upswing, says Gill.

There's been a steady increase in the past year, he said, and it hasn't slowed down. Dogs and cats adopted in 1973 numbered just over 2,000; stray dogs returned to their homes was set at 3,235.

But still, 13,555 abandoned dogs, cats and strays were lodged in the center; 8,000 of those put to sleep.

Gill sees this as promising. Two years ago more than 14,000 animals were disposed of, and he predicts a continuing decrease.

The reason: efforts at zero pet population growth, says Gill. The low cost spaying and neutering programs at the Humane Society mean that fewer animals are born to be stranded on the side of the road, said Gill.

If you purchase from an animal from the humane society ($10 for dogs; $5 for cats) the animal will already have had a distemper shot. There is a required deposit for a future spaying or neutering operation, an appointment for which can be made after the animal has reached a certain age, or as Gill explains, when the dog or cat has made the adjustment to its new home.

Cost for spaying a dog is $20, $15 for a cat and a neutering operation for a male cat costs $10. Male dogs are not required to be neutered but the services are available for $12.

The Humane Society also sponsors an Adoption Volunteer Program. If you can't find the specific breed you're looking for there, the Humane Society, said Gill, will try to put you in touch with someone who does have it.

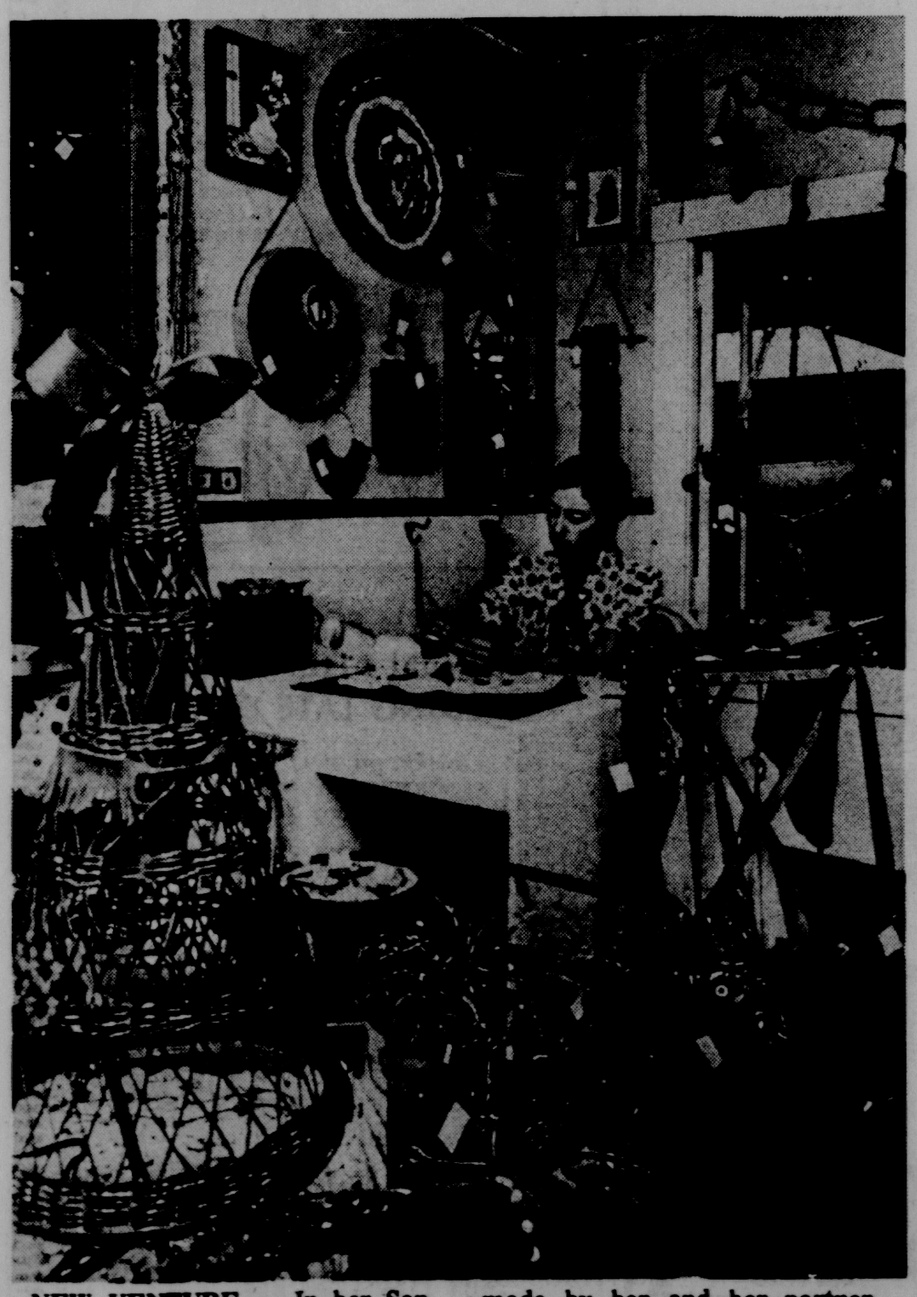
New Slate Voted By GOP Women

Officers for the 1975 year were elected Dec. 10 by members of the Novato Republican Women's Club. New president is Joan Irwin; first vice president in charge of programs, Elizabeth Doherty; second vice president in charge of luncheons, Madeline McGinnis; secretary, Irene Berka; treasurer, Genevieve Grundstrom, and corresponding secretary, Dorothy Schilder.

Presiding officer at the installation was retiring president, Joyce Miler, currently regional vice president of the organization.

A silent auction at the meeting netted $118 for the group's political work.

Housewives Establish Own Business



NEW VENTURE — In her San Anselmo shop, Various and Sundries, Judy Calder works on a crochet item, one of many items made by her and her partner, Emily Dvoran, young housewives turned business women.

By JOAN LISETOR

Going into business has been a dream for the past two years for Emily Dvoran and Judy Calder.

"We have had everything written down, even our layaway policy," said Mrs. Dvoran.

The two young housewives opened a shop, Various and Sundries, in the Old West Arcade in San Anselmo on Nov. 1.

Mrs. Dvoran's route into the venture began three years ago when she took a course in macrame at the Marinwood Community Center. She added needlepoint and embroidery to her skills and went from student to teacher at the center.

Knit and crochet items are Mrs. Calder's forte, and out of a desire to do something different she began designing knitted and crocheted wall hangings.

Mrs. Calder began giving her wall hangings as gifts. The next step, she said, came when people who saw them offered her money to make them. That started the ball rolling, and she began taking her creations to shops, where they were sold on consignment. Mrs. Dvoran had also been selling her items in stores when the two went into business

"I think there is a growing trend among young married women. They want to earn their own money. Certainly there is a desire there," Mrs. Dvoran said. Her children are 6 and 4 years old, and Mrs. Calder's are 4 and 1.

The partners found the location for the shop in October and had three weeks to open it.

"We had a three weeks' crash course because we didn't know the least thing about opening a business," said Mrs. Calder, whose husband's expertise as a banker was very helpful.

Also helpful was Mrs. Dvoran's husband, an attorney.

"We were nickled and dimed to death until we finally opened our doors. We cut corners, but

Young Saroyan To Be Guest On Radio Show

Two authors, a film critic and a rent-a-yacht man will guest next week on "Jorie Talks," KTIM program heard Monday through Thursday at 9:30 a.m.

Aram Saroyan of Bolinas will discuss his autobiographical novel, "The Street," on Tuesday. He will also take note of an article he wrote recently for the New York Times, "Marijuana and Me," wherein he relates how the weed has been phased out of his life. He is the son of author William Saroyan.

On Monday, writer-photographer Ron Adams of San Rafael goes into the rationale of his sensual awareness book, ". . .And for Dessert."

Because of the many film openings on Christmas Day, cinema critic Sheila Benson is featured on Wednesday. She will review "Godfather II" and "The Little Prince."

Host Jorie Parr winds up the week on Thursday with an interview of Al Wasserman of San Rafael, a former primal therapist psychologist who now rents out his 50-foot cabin cruiser for parties and excursions. The "Huntress" is moored in the Loch Lomond harbor.

Burglars Busiest During December

By DOROTHEA BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — They cover more homes faster than Santa Claus and always do their Christmas shopping early. Burglars, that is.

December is the peak month. Nearly 15 per cent more burglaries are committed than in any other month, with the take averaging $337 each.

Actually, a good number of burglars seem to be prudent fellows who start their Christmas preparations early. November is the second highest month for their specialty.

BURGLARY, the country's second most frequent crime, averages an incident every 12 seconds with the economic loss amounting to $856 million in 1973, up $134 million over 1972's take. Well over half — $534 million — was from homes.

Cal Mortensen, president of Emhard Corporation's Kwikset lock division, reports, surprisingly, daylight hours do not inhibit burglars. His analysis of 1973's annual crime report shows more than half of all residential burglaries took place during the daytime. "As a matter of fact," he said, "the statistics show those who break and enter homes and apartments tend to 'work' the same hours kept by most employed persons. In the 1968-73 period daytime residential burglary increased 56 per cent. It rose 9 per cent last year," he said.

THE DAYTIME allure, of course, reflects the fact an unattended apartment or home is a relatively easy score for criminals.

Pinkerton's, the security specialists, concur that winter is "happy hunting time" for household burglars, especially in the north where winter is vacation time for an increasing number of families.

John R. Hitt, director of security for Pinkerton's, urges householders to make an effort

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Two Men Have Their Problems With Different Sorts Of Girls

RAP:

Mama's girls are bad enough, but don't ever get mixed up with a Father's Girl. Man, I did!

I love Jan, but "Daddy" comes first. She helps him run the family business. He rules on all her friends — and if a man gets too close, he's scorched. He can make me look stupid, just by raising an eyebrow. Once "Daddy" meets one of her men friends, she soon cools, because Daddy has pointed out all his faults. And she believes him!

Jan says she "cares about me," but she isn't affectionate. We have more of a brother-sister thing. She told me that she would have a hard time finding a husband because no man could compare with her father.

Would you say I had a chance? — GEORGE

DEAR GEORGE:

On a scale of one to ten, we'd place you about two. Sorry . . . but even if you finally won this girl, you might always play second fiddle to Daddy.

But don't give up, entirely. Keep a small hope while dating other girls. Perhaps the fear of losing you to someone else may show her that Daddy isn't the most important man in her life. If not — well maybe one of those girls will make you forget her. — SUE AND HELEN

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I've met a great girl. She likes all the sports I like, and can beat me at a few.

But from the start she warned me that this relationship wasn't going to go as I hoped. She wants it "friends only."

Several things lately make me thing she may be a latent homosexual. She's as nice to women as she is to men. Most girls arent, you know. She is stronger than average. She wears her hair very short. As far as I know she's never been in love — with a man. At any rate, she doesn't mention former affairs.

Should I bow out or accept this no-sex, just good pals, plan? — DOUBTING

DEAR DOUBTING:

Has it occurred to you that this girl might want "just friendship" because you don't appeal to her sexually? None of the things you mention "prove" homosexuality. Your doubts about her may simply prove you have a stereotyped image of women. — HELEN

DEAR DOUBTING:

When in doubt — ask. This may break up a beautiful friendship — if she isn't a Les. But then, your suspicions are bound to ruin the relationship anyway, so what have you got to lose?

What if you're right? Settle for "just pals," since you evidently enjoy her company. — SUE

Boonville Rites Unite Marinites

Cynthia Lou Yarling and David Victor Rink, both of Philo, were married Dec. 8 in the Baptist Church in Boonville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edsel P. Yarling of San Rafael, and the bridegroom's parents are Margaret Terrien of San Rafael and Henry W. Rink of Sunnyvale.

Although the bride and bridegroom had no formal attendants, friends and relatives participated in the ceremony. The bride's sisters, Margaret and Virginia Yarling, lit the tapers in the poinsettia decorated church. John Anderson of Santa Cruz, husband of the bride's sister Katherine, played his own guitar composition prior to the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl G. Peterman of Philo opened their hilltop home to more than 50 guests who attended the reception.

The bridegroom attended San Rafael High School. He is also the brother of Sara Terrien of San Rafael, Judith Rink of Palo Alto, Victoria Rink of Sunnyvale and Andrew Rink DeRhen of New York City.

The bride is also a graduate of San Rafael High School. Pamela Yarling of Fall Creek, Ore., is her sister.

The newlyweds will be moving to property in Covello, Round Valley, where they will be building a home.

Santa To Visit

Kindergarteners in the classes of Ruth Travis and Janet Addams at Greenbrae School will enjoy a surprise visit from Santa Claus tomorrow morning. Room mothers have arranged for John Rosshirt of Greenbrae to bring toys to each child.

GAYLE LYNN REUSCHE
Plans July wedding

Gayle Reusche Engaged, July Wedding Planned

Mr. and Mrs. George Reusche, of Magalia, former Novato residents, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Gayle Lynn, to Joseph Martin Casteel of Chico.

Gayle is the sister of Linda Horwath of San Francisco, Joseph Silva and Eric Reusche. She is the granddaughter of Hattie Reusche of San Francisco and Leuella Bigham of Sacramento.

She was graduated from Novato High School and attended the College of Marin. She is currently employed with Pacific Mutual in Corte Madera.

Joseph is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Casteel of Novato and the brother of Steven, Donna and Gina Casteel. He is the grandson of Marie Casteel and Virginia Gamble.

He was graduated from Terra Linda High School and attended the College of Marin.

The couple plans a July wedding.

Uncle Sam Puts Out New Guide For Shoppers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department today published a 368-page inflation "survival kit" designed to help consumers get the most for every dollar.

The publication, a hardcover book titled "Shopper's Guide," is the 75th in an annual series of yearbooks issued by the department. Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said the new volume, which includes detailed tables to help spot the best comparative values when buying food, was written to help consumers "buy the right product for the best price."

Butz said in a foreword the guide does not compare brands, but it "lays down guidelines to help you make your own decision."

The book will sell at Government Printing Office bookstores for the same $5.70 charged for the 1973 yearbook, which dealt with housing. Each U.S. representative will get 400 copies for free distribution, and each Senate office will have 550 copies for customers who get requests in quickly.

Rainbow Girls Invite Visitors

San Rafael Assembly 195, International Order of the Rainbow for Girls, will hold an open meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the San Rafael Masonic Temple.

On Saturday the Assembly will sponsor a bake sale in front of Long's Drug Store in the Northgate Shopping Center. Proceeds will be used to support the Assembly's adopted child, Nelcy De Olivera Moacir of Brazil.

Chairmen of the meeting are Nancy George, Darcy Wilde and Lori Kimberling.

Advance Planning Lessens Holiday Cleanup Problems

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Hang the mistletoe high, bake the pumpkin pie, but be prepared for cranberry and pine sap stains. Ditto candle drippings and soot smudges.

Preparedness may cut the costs of Yuletide merriment cleanup.

Some practical persons may go too far, advising that you invest in a red and white rug if you are addicted to cranberries (or black and white rug if you have shaggy animals) but avoiding pine needles in a shag rug is worth a thought as you face the holidays — if you ever hope to walk barefoot on your rug again, that is. An easily soiled white rug, even one that spends most of its life at the cleaners, may wear a nest of needles in its shag forever if it collects some.

BEFORE THE TREE is carried or dragged over your rug by enthusiastic merrymakers, cover the rug with canvas, plastic or an old sheet or two, tacking it down lightly so that it can be removed when you entertain.

Stains on carpet or upholstery are another matter. You've got to wait until something happens, but "if proper action is taken immediately" you can cope with just about any holiday stain, says the Eureka Home Care Institute, where a great variety of stains have been tested.

THE ADVICE STRESSES preparation. Include stain removal ingredients in your Christmas shopping list. It's a grim thought, but not if you keep in mind that such items — mild detergent for delicate fabrics, white vinegar, dry cleaning fluid of the solvent variety, sponge and paper towels — are all that may be needed to obliterate 24 stains.

The approach may be important. Let's say some turkey gravy drips on your white carpet. You don't blanch and say "don't worry about it" as you get indigestion eating your dinner. You start the cleanup immediately by blotting up excess liquids and solids and reassuring the person who caused the accident by wearing a wide grin on your face.

A solution of one teaspoon of mild detergent, one teaspoon of white vinegar and one quart of tepid water is applied with a clean rag or sponge, taking care not to soak the carpet through. The solution should be absorbed with paper towels and the carpet should dry before it is vacuumed gently.

AFTER THE CARPET is dry, apply a dry-cleaning solvent. This double whammy should be used also for coffee, tea and salad dressing stains, but not on cranberries or alcohol where you use detergent, water and vinegar but skip the dry cleaning solvent.

Speed is important in coping with stains from alcoholic beverages, including wine. You might use the old "I think I've lost my earring" trick to inspect your chairs, sofas and cushions. The vinegar, detergent and water mixture may be used on upholstered pieces and carpet, but try not to soak it through. Reapply the same solution if the spot remains after the first treatment.

Sugar in alcohol (or berries) may react with silk and wool fibers to produce a deep-rooted yellow stain, one reason why the dry cleaning solvent should not be used.

AS FOR PINE SAP which might come in contact with your upholstery, it should be treated with ice, hardened and scraped off with a spoon (it's the same method used on Junior's bubble gum).

Soot left by the family fire chief who might be a whiz at building a fire, but a little messy at the hearth, should be removed as soon as possible and then treated, particularly at the edges, with the vinegar-detergent-water solution. Try to get the powdery soot off the carpet before treating it with the liquid and use the edging tool of the vacuum between the rug and hearth.

ADVANCE THINKING can pay off in many ways. For example, do not place candles near synthetic fibers which may have a low melting point. If some hot wax does drip use the ice-cube, scrape-up-with-a-spoon method. A dry cleaning solvent may also be necessary for the cleanup.

Before using a dry-cleaning solvent on any fabric or carpet test it in an inconspicuous place. And if you don't know how the spot came about, you had better let the professional cleaner handle it. Tests can be made to determine what it is.

Burglars Busiest At The End Of The Year

always to give the impression there is someone at home, whether you're gone for the day or longer. "In view of the increase in home burglaries," he said, "giving the impression people are home is of paramount importance. The objective is to create uncertainty in a prowler's mind if he is considering forcible entry at your house."

HITT SUGGESTED the following precautions for homeowners who will be gone for more than a day:

Ask a neighbor to use your driveway for parking. This will make it appear you are home.

Use automatic timing or electric eye devices to operate several house lights. A lighted house is less apt to be burglarized than one that is dark.

Leave curtains open, at least part way. Closed blinds make an effective screen for a burglar once he is inside.

Close and lock all doors, including garage, tool shed and other accessory buildings. Use pin tumbler, cylinder locks on outside entrances and safety latches on windows. Main entrances should be bolted as well as locked.

ONE BURGLAR, Hitt said, admitted he would check garbage cans before he was convinced a family was gone. One solution, he suggested, is to move garbage cans indoors. "The homeowner's security plan should be thorough."

He recommends vacationers notify their local police department of departure date, date of return and where they can be reached in an emergency. Police also should be told what other precautions you have taken: what automatic lighting devices are in use; who has been hired to do yard or inside-the-house chores; which neighbors have a key to the house.

And, of course, arrangements should be made to stop deliveries or have a neighbor make a daily pick-up for you. It goes without saying, no notes should be tacked to the door. And, don't ever, leave an emergency key "hiddne" outdoors.

Mortensen noted, however, only 18 per cent of unlawful entries resulted from carelessness.

WIVES

it still cost us about $2,000 to open," she said.

They purchased display items at flea markets and garage sales and used a lot of things that were lying around in their garages.

Many of the items sold in the shop are made by the owners, but they also have handmade crafts on consignment from about 50 artists. Prices range from 3 cents (for a bead) to $150.

"If you have a skill or a talent it is nice to be able to share it and have other people enjoy it as much as you do," Mrs. Dvoran said. "It is far out to sell something to a customer that you have made and hear them rave about it, but it is also sometimes hard to part with it. I still treat it as art instead of as a money maker. I can't make the same thing twice."

The women will begin teaching small classes at the shop in mid January for those interested in learning macrame, needlepoint, knitting and crocheting.

"This has been a dream which I have pursued, and I have a great feeling of achievement," Mrs. Dvoran said.

Sailing Fleet To Fete Season

The sailing fleet of the Loch Lomond Yacht Club will depart from the club's marina in San Rafael at 6 p.m. on Christmas Eve and wend its way along the San Rafael Canal.

Yachtsmen aboard will be singing Christmas Carols.

The boats will raft at the turning basin and continue the festivities, which will be visible from Beach Park, near the end of the canal.

Dr. Spock Urges Fathers To Help Combat Sexism

Dr. Benjamin Spock today urged fathers to take the initiative in freeing their sons and daughters from sexual prejudice.

"Fathers, as members of the sex that the prejudice presumably favors, will have more leverage than mothers," the noted pediatrician said in his column for the January issue of Redbook magazine.

Maintaining that "the process must be begun in early childhood," Spock recommended that fathers and sons (when they are old enough) share in all domestic activities including food shopping, preparation and serving, dishwashing, bedmaking, vacuuming and laundry.

"Child care is another aspect of family work that should involve both sexes of all ages," Spock contended. "When a mother does all or almost all thses home jobs by herself, she's the universal servant. When its's mother and daughter who do it, it appears to mean that this is women's work and, by implication, less important than what men do. But if all parricipate... then the work has dignity as well as utility and no sex is diminished by it."

Spock also offered these additional suggestions for parents to help overcome sexist attitudes:

Parents should not tell their daughters to wear dresses instead of jeans.

If a girl wants a baseball mitt or a cowboy suit, parents should comply; young boys who want dolls should also be allowed to have them.

Boys should not be told they shouldn't cry.

Girls should be considered just as eligible as sons for mowing, raking and car-washing jobs.

When a father invites a son to an athletic event or on a camping trip, he should also invite his daughter if he has one and her mother.

Bay Area Cities Rank Among Best

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you're looking for the safest U.S. city, you might try El Paso. San Francisco appears to have the most available medical care. And Honolulu has the cleanest air.

But for all around liveability for the greatest number of its residents, Seattle leads the list of the 50 largest U.S. cities, according to a report in January's Harper's Magazine. Newark, N.J., stands at the bottom.

Writer Arthur Louis, a magazine editor, said he based his conclusions on a series of 25 statistical tables in a fashion similar to what H. L. Mencken's American Mercury did 43 years ago in a ranking of states.

Massachusetts, it developed, was the best; Mississippi, the worst.

Louis, in his compilation, used such indices as murders, ratio of residents to physicians, income, education, "Who's Who" entries, library books and hotel rooms.

In general, he found cities in the West and Southwest ranking toward the top of the list while those in the Northeast dominated the bottom.

"The results seem appropriate for a study stressing the greatest physical and material well-being for the greatest number," he wrote. "As the sociologists have been telling us for a long time, the Northeastern cities are deficient in that respect."

Surprisingly, Seattle does not appear at the top of any of Lewis's individual categories, but its overall performance earned it an average ranking of 14.0 to nudge Tulsa, Okla., with 14.8.

San Diego ranked in third place with 14.9, followed by San Jose, 15.6; Honolulu, 16-4; Portland, Ore., 17.8; Denver, 18.2; Minneapolis, 18.8; Oklahoma City, 19.1, and Omaha 19.3.

Newark fared worst in a number of categories, including parks, "Who's Who" entries and infant deaths. It finished 50th with a 41.6 rating. "The city of Newark stands without serious challenge as the worst of all," Louis wrote.

Immediately above Newark in 49th place was St. Louis, Chicago was 48; Detroit 47, and Baltimore, 46.

New York City, synonymous with urban woe, ranked 32nd on Louis's list, somewhat behind San Francisco 11th, Los Angeles 22 and Washington 27, but ahead of Boston 34, Atlanta, 36 and Philadelphia, 39.

Student Hikers To Earn Credit From University

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Backpacking is going to college — or maybe it's the other way around. Three University of Cincinnati seniors plan to earn from 12 to 15 hours academic credit each by hiking 2,000 miles from Georgia to Maine.

Out on the trail, Bob Elsener, Jack Deyzel and Kim Welch will be getting credit for courses in anthropology, geography, sociology, psychology and environmental studies.

"We support these students in their efforts to extend learning beyond the walls of the university," said Gene D. Lewis, university provost for academic affairs.

Sometime in late March, the trio will slip 35-pound packs on their backs in Springer Mountain, Ga., and hike an average of 13 miles a day along the Appalachian Trail.

Some 14 states and six months later, they hope to trudge into Mt. Katahdin, Maine, with enough credit hours to graduate.

They will be required to keep a diary describing the trail, the people and things they encounter, nature and the impact of the trip on themselves.

"We will see how our camaraderie develops or disintegrates," Welch said. "It might change the way we look at things."

As for food, they are ordering freeze-dried food in advance and will pack it in boxes holding about a week's supply and send it ahead to small towns along the way. Each hiker figures to wear out three pairs of $40 boots.

The wilderness footpath crosses several national forests and parks in addition to privately owned woodland.

The Soviet Dissidents' Handbook

MOSCOW (UPI) — Two Soviet political prisoners have produced a tactical handbook to guide dissidents subject to psychiatric examination. It recommends lying and submission to authorities.

The typewritten manuscript, titled "Handbook to Psychiatry for Dissidents," is circulating in Moscow and was made available to Western correspondents. It was written in prison by Vladimir Bukovsky and Semyon Gluzman.

"Your fate depends on your ability to be immoral to people and organizations who profess the morality of a Hottentot," the book says. "There are no grounds for hope in the conscience of doctors."

Bukovsky was sentenced in 1972 to 12 years in prison and exile for publicly charging that sane persons are put in Soviet mental hospitals. He is now in Vladimir prison near Moscow.

Gluzman, a psychiatrist from Kiev, was sentenced to 10 years and is in a labor camp in Perm.

Dissident sources said the handbook was smuggled out of the prisons and copies were seized by the KGB secret police in recent searches of Moscow apartments. They said Bukovsky and Gluzman risked reprisals by issuing the book.

The Soviet Union has denied sane persons who protest aspects of Soviet life are committed to mental hospitals.

Recommending tactics for those being examined, the book says: "It is fatal to adopt the morality of the dissident — truth, sincerity, sympathy — because that would mean giving truthful replies to questions damaging to yourself." It would give the psychiatrist "the symptoms he needs."

The book advises dissidents to stress "that you have always been completely normal and average in every aspect of your life," and are "not interested in philosophy, psychiatry, parapsychology, mathematics or modern art."

The best tactic is to say "I wanted to be famous, become well known. I did not understand the full seriousness of the consequences, I did not realize I had gone too far, and so forth.

"Precisely these unseemly motivations are taken positively at the examination," Bukovsky and Gluzman said.

The book advises hospital patients to tell doctors about "the change in your former sick convictions" and use all other tactical methods. "In this and only in this is your hope of salvation."

Health Budget Cuts Could Cost The State

SACRAMENTO (AP) — President Ford's proposed budget cuts in health care for the elderly wouldn't raise the recipients' costs, but it would require millions more in state tax dollars, officials say.

Paul Keller, a spokesman for the state Department of Health, said Tuesday that Ford's proposed changes would not hit the budgets of elderly Californians already on the state-funded Medi-Cal program.

"If the individual is already under Medi-Cal and is receiving a cash grant, he won't pay anything more," he said.

The average retired worker receiving a monthly $187.11 Social Security check now pays $92 for up to 60 days of hospitalization under Medicare. But the proposal would raise that to up to $750 for a 60-day hospital stay, an Associated Press analysis shows.

Keller said Californians under Medi-Cal do not now pay tne $92 paid by the elderly in other states. The state picks up that bill. But the state would pick up the higher bill, he said.

That change and others proposed by Ford could hike the state's $780 million Medi-Cal costs, said Thomas Dooley of the legislative analyst's office. But Dooley added that no estimate of the additional costs has been made because the proposals have not been put into final form.

Elizabeth Owen, spokeswoman for the state Department of Health, said the department plans to fight the Ford proposals.

GONE TODAY
The $399 indulgence

Seemed by the time you got away from it all, settled into that mountain cabin and finished unpacking, it was just about time to leave. Roughing it was a great experience, even though the fireplace smoked and the quiet kept you awake. Now all you have to show for it is a memory, and that's worth something. But when you have to make choices about how to spend your money, think of what you come home to after the fun is over. Think of RB Furniture.

HERE TOMORROW
The $399 investment

Our big, rustic oak finish 7-piece dining set will be the family's enjoyment center for years of rugged everyday use and stylish entertaining. GHOSTS OF TELEVISION

Mill Valley school children mug for the still camera during a break in videotaping a 30-minute musical play to be aired on cable television at 8 o'clock tonight on channel 3 for cities in the Fairfax-San Anselmo area. The play is by teacher Steve Riffkin. In it, fifth and sixth graders from Old Mill School and Middle School portray ghosts of various forms of commercial television. Pictured from left are Nina Galin, Billy Goggins, Sam Fisk, Josie Fath, Susan Joseph, Chris Crutcher (the ghost of horror tv) and Todd Wanerman.

The council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and Parents' Magazine, unless otherwise noted. ADULTS & TEENS

"Airport '75" — Surpassing entertainment. Delightfully intense and nerve racking when jet plane is hit and stewardess (Karen Black) has to take over controls. A series of scenes that will have the audiences reaching to fasten their seat belts. Craftsmanlike film. (Catholic Film Newsletter)

"Birds do it, Bees do it" — The mysteries of reproduction tastefully photographed in nature studies. But do see it with your young teen-agers who are ready. (Motion Picture & TV Council)

"40 Carats" — Liv Ullman as a 40-year-old divorcee engaged to a 22-year-old executive (Edward Albert). Glossy backgrounds, glamorous wardrobe and mildly amusing dialogue. Amusing in spots.

"The Towering Inferno" — A spine-tingling look at a raging holocaust in the worlds' tallest skyscraper. Another in a series of lip-biting, tense, mass crisis movies, now so popular. An all-star cast headed by Paul Newman and Steve McQueen. (Over 15 at least.)

"The Front Page" — Another version of the popular play by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur showing Chicago journalism in the 1920s. Billy Wilder and Walter Matthau star in this very funny, fast-moving film, spoiled by foul and vulgar language that was never in the original. (Over 16)

BORDER LINE

"Cabaret" — Liza Minnelli's dazzling performance in a musical about a decadent time — set in Berlin in the 1930s. Sex and cursing (For over 17)

"Longest Yard" — Overly-long film details a football game between convicts and semi-pro group of prison guards. The two sides try to slaughter one another "legally". Strictly for Reynolds and gridiron fans.

"Serpico" — A true story of a one-man war against corruption in New York City. Sex, cursing and violence alleviated by warmth and humor.

"Steppenwolf" — A successful movie version of the philosophical novel. A Jungian analysis of a suicidally inclined German intellectual. Fine casting, innovative film techniques, excellent musical score. A good example for film study. (16 or over)

ADULTS ONLY

"Cinderella Liberty" — A story of a kind-hearted sailor who falls in love with a pregnant prostitute who has an 11-year-old son. Sensitive photography. Raw language, nudity, sex.

"The Gambler" — A stinging, tension-filled film that leaves the viewer with an unsettling bad taste in the mouth. Not for the weakhearted or young. Raw language and hard to bear violence. (Film Information)

Benefit Slated Tuesday Night

An evening of music, song and meditation called "Rainbows of Joy" is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Marin Veterans' Memorial Building at the Civic Center.

Sponsored by the House of Man, the Now Order Worldwide and Our Father's Way, the program is part of a worldwide meditation effort that has been held on Christmas Eve for four years, according to Neal Klevan and Elga Hinda, metaphysical consultants.

Jeffrey Kane and Helen Tucker will sing, various groups will play and Father Sharingva will chant, Klevan said.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets at $2.50 each will go toward building a center for "truth and love in Marin," according to Klevan.

HE'LL SPEND IT AT HOME

An Unusual Bob Hope Christmas

LOS ANGELES (AP) — This is the time of year when Bob Hope and troupe used to take off on the road to Seoul or Saigon, Guam or Guantanamo Bay to brighten Christmas for American servicemen far from home. The comedian will be at home this year. Well, almost. He will doubtless pay a visit to a veterans' hospital, as he did last year at Long Beach.

For the millions who have heard Hope tell his jokes on bases and battlefields since 1941, he has written a remembrance, "The Last Christmas Show." Predictably gag-laden, the book provides a nostalgic view in words and pictures of the comedian's travels through three wars and the intervals between.

It began in 1941 when his radio producer suggested taking the show to the Army Air Corps base at March Field. "What for? Why don't you bring them here?" Hope asked. It was explained that 1,000 or 2,000 airmen couldn't fit into the NBC studio. Hope agreed to travel, intrigued by the prospect of a "captive audience . . . with military police guarding the gates so they can't get out."

Through all his travels, Hope came through unscratched, but he has had his share of "hairy, anxious moments." He lists a few:

"On our first trip, when the weather got so thick that they ordered us into Mae West jackets and parachutes, and the only thing that got us down was one antiaircraft searchlight that managed to pierce the storm.

"The time we had to crash-land in a Navy flying boat between Brisbane and Sydney, Australia. The time in 1958 they put the wrong kind of fuel in our plane in Moron, Spain, and it wasn't discovered until the last minute. The time when the Viet Cong tried to blow us up in Saigon in 1964. And the time the Cong managed to put a few holes in our plane in 1966."

Hope tells the story about doing a show in Nice, France, toward the end of World War II and finding Maurice Chevalier in the audience. An Army major warned against introducing the French star because "he's suspected of being a collaborator."

Hope replied, "I don't know anything about that. I'm not a judge and jury, I'm just an emcee and this guy is one hell of an entertainer." Hope introduced Chevalier, who sang "Louise" and got a standing ovation.

Afterward, the comedian writes, Chevalier told him, "I will never forget what you have done for me in the ball park in Nice." Hope adds: "And he kissed me — on both cheeks. Nothing freaky."

Hope's Christmas routine began in 1948, when Stuart Symington, then secretary of the Air Force, called him to ask for a tour of air bases to spread holiday cheer. One of the stops was Berlin, which the Air Force was supplying during the blockade. Among those on the trip were Vice President Alben Barkley, songwriter Irving Berlin, commentator Elmer Davis and Gen. James Doolittle.

The comedian had played Berlin during the grim days of 1945. On the bitterly cold Christmas day in 1948 he managed to draw warm laughter with such jokes as: "This certainly has been an unusual experience flying into Berlin. It's the first time I was ever in a corridor and didn't have to worry about the house detectives."

Symington again lured Hope to entertain in Alaska the following year. When the comic argued that he had promised to spend Christmas with his wife and the children, the Air Force secretary offered to send the family. Dolores accepted for herself and the two oldest, Tony and Linda.

The Christmas shows continued until 1972, when he went to Vietnam and Thailand for the ninth time. Among his entertainers was "Dolores Reade, the classy chanteuse I first heard in a New York night club when I was appearing in 'Roberta.' You know the one' she later became Mrs. Leslie Townes Hope."

In "The Last Christmas Show," Hope concedes that "I've had my share of criticism, flak and hostility from some who have accused me of being a 'war lover.' " He adds: "I don't mind the flak and I don't feel I owe anybody an apology. The cheers and the applause outweighed the slings and arrows. We went — not just me, but scores of entertainers — because there were kids there who needed a show."

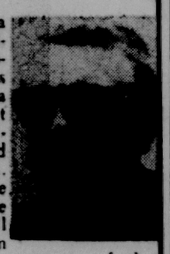
CLOSING UP ON CHRISTMAS



Planning a Christmas album of photographs this year? Take a look at last year's pictures, and older ones. Chances are you'll see more overall shots than closeups . . . pictures of the tree, family groups, the house aglow with lights, etc.

Why not move in closer this Christmas? Shoot just one beautiful ornament in color, rather than a treeful. One doll, close up, instead of a pile of presents. A close glimpse of a child's delight can tell the Christmas story beautifully.

Closeups make everything loom larger . . . and that includes flaws. Movement, for instance, shows up more in closeups, so you must have an extra steady camera. Clean your lens, too, to avoid oversize specks of dust and lint.

And when you're Christmas shopping this month, take a close up look at our array of photographic gifts, from cameras to accessories, in every price range. Stock up on film for the holidays, too, at

Hearing On Tate's Bail Is Delayed Until Monday

By GEORGE NEVIN

Three dozen supporters of San Quentin Six inmate Willie Tate, including his mother and eight sisters, had a disappointment today at a hearing in Marin Superior Court.

They had come expecting to testify on a motion to reduce Tate's $500,000 bail, but the matter was put over to Monday.

Tate was released from San Quentin yesterday after his original prison sentence expired, but Marin authorities promptly brought him to Marin County jail after a last-minute flurry of legal moves at the California Supreme Court.

At issue is whether Tate, 30, one of six prisoners indicted for murder in connection with a prison uprising in 1971, technically faces any charges.

A visiting judge in January tossed out the indictments, but that ruling was overturned earlier this month by a state Appeals Court. However, the latter ruling will not become effective until sometime in February, so the Marin district attorney's office yesterday obtained a State Supreme Court order staying the original dismissal of the indictments — in effect reinstating them.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas sparred today with two attorneys for Tate in Marin's special security courtroom.

As Tate's family and supporters peered through bullet-proof plexiglass, Thomas contended it was improper for Judge Charles Read Best to hear a motion to reduce Tate's bail because proper notice was not given.

Best agreed he didn't have time to hear the arguments, and set the matter for Monday, when it will be assigned to the first available superior court judge.

At the urging of attorney John E. Hill and another lawyer representing the American Civil Liberties Union, David R. Mayer, Best said he does not intend to order Tate transferred back to San Quentin "unless there is a drastic change in the facts and circumstances of the case."

Mayer and Hill fretted that Tate, if he is taken back to the prison, would be unavailable to them for legal consultations.

After the 30-minute hearing, Tate's mother, Winnie, and her eight daughters, said they would try to visit him at county jail today.

"I don't want to talk about it right now. It's been a bad day," she said.

The family made the trip from Fresno yesterday, expecting to see Tate released after serving 10 years on a felony assault conviction.

But while they waited outside San Quentin's main gate, Tate was whisked through the rear gate to the county jail.

Deputies at the jail said Tate "has been behaving himself" and is being kept alone in a one-man cell, taking all his meals there and not being allowed to mingle with the general jail population.

Dominican Yule Concerts On Air

Two Christmas music programs originated at Dominican College will be broadcast tomorrow and Monday.

Tomorrow at 8 p.m. on KGO-TV's Channel 7 will be presented a program entitled, "The Young Sound of Christmas."

Monday at 7 p.m. on radio station KQED-FM will be presented a program entitled, "A Festival of Lessons and Carols."

How Tall Was The Policeman?

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — The judge took one look at 4-foot-10 Jose Torres and dropped the charges.

"I don't believe this man could hurt a Hartford policeman," said Superior Court Judge Joseph F. Dannehy.

Torres, 24, appeared before Dannehy Wednesday to face a charge of attempted first degree assault on Patrolman John DeMaio.

VIGIL — It was a long and, ultimately, fruitless wait yesterday outside San Quentin's gate for Winnie Tate (right rear), mother of Willie Tate. She had come from Fresno expecting to see her son released after 13 years in prison, but Tate was whisked through another gate to Marin County Jail.

Petaluman Convicted In Ukiah

I-J Special Report

UKIAH — A 31-year-old Petaluma man yesterday was found guilty of raping a young school teacher near Willits Sept. 27.

A Mendocino County Superior Court jury deliberated seven hours before returning a verdict against Walter Edward Smith, who was convicted of rape, assault with intent to commit rape and violating the 26-year-old victim's personal liberty. He was found innocent of other sexual offenses.

During the trial the victim said she was picked up in Santa Rosa by Smith while she hitchhiked from Stinson Beach to Eugene, Ore.

About four miles north of Willits, she said, Smith drove off the main road and forced her to submit at pistol-point. She told police he taped her hands and feet and stole her clothes. Smith was later arrested by Cloverdale police.

He told the court he stopped in Santa Rosa for gasoline and that the young woman offered sexual acts in return for a ride. He said she submitted voluntarily, after which he paid her $20.

Smith, who is being held without bail, will be sentenced Jan. 6.

Collision Hurts Bolinas Woman

Janice Tremblay, 35, of Bolinas was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with facial cuts received yesterday when the car in which she was riding collided with another auto on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Fairfax.

Police said the accident involved a car driven by her husband, Daniel Tremblay, 35, and an auto operated by Eleanor Kristensen, 46, of Fairfax.

The Tremblay car was westbound on Drake and the Kristensen vehicle was crossing Drake from Azalea Avenue when the crash occurred at 5:20 p.m., according to officers.

Big Steel's Increase In Prices Defended

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of U.S. Steel, the nation's largest steel maker, today defended an 8 per cent price hike against mounting pressure by President Ford to reduce or delay it.

Edgar B. Speer, in an interview in the Journal of Commerce, a New York financial newspaper, said even with the price hike the company's profits would be lower in 1975 than in 1974.

Speer said the price hike is 40 per cent less than the cost rises the company has incurred in labor, materials and transportation.

He also said the new coal miners' contract will add several dollars a ton to the cost of coal the company buys.

Speer said U.S. Steel had held the line on prices since July, despite higher costs and noted that the company's prices are below others in the industry.

Speer soon plans to meet in Washington with Albert Rees, chairman of the government's wage and price stability council.

Dixie Trustees Draft Ballot Plea

The Dixie School District board last night worked out the wording for the ballot argument in support of its revenue raising measure, and was told of the formation of a citizens committee to support the measure.

The district is seeking a $150 increase in spending per pupil, which would cost the owner of a $55,000 home some $2.60 a month in increased taxes, according to Supt. Clifford W. Campbell.

The ballot argument points out that among 16 elementary districts in Marin, only four spend less than Dixie's $1,130 per pupil, Campbell said. It also says the district has reduced staff annually, closed one school and made "similar economies," but that due to persistent inflation, additional money will be needed to maintain programs at current levels.

W. E. (Bill) Bartz, chairman of a promeasure group, the "Citizens Committee for Quality Education," informed the board of the existence of the group and invited the public to its meeting Jan. 7 at 8 p.m. in the board room of the school district office.

The Dixie School District board also:

CALENDAR — Decided to begin discussion of the school calendar for 1975-76 on Jan. 22, and called on parents to participate.

GRIEVANCE — Agreed to hear Jan. 22 a request by the Dixie Teachers Association to adopt a grievance procedure.

PERSONNEL — Increased the hours of a custodian helper from two to three daily; adopted job descriptions for custodian-grounds helper and maintenance worker trainee.

CLAIM — Denied and referred to its insurance carrier a $250,000 claim by Carlos Corredor on behalf of his son, William, who broke his arm Oct. 21 at Bernard Hoffman School.

CLOSED — Met briefly in closed session for its annual evaluation of Campbell, and decided to continue it Jan. 9 at 8 p.m. in the district office.

NEXT — Scheduled its next open meeting for Jan. 8 at 8 p.m. in the board room.

Most Viet Aid Funds Are Gone

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Less than halfway through the budget year, the Pentagon has already spent almost three-quarters of the funds Congress gave it for aid to Vietnam.

There has been a recent upsurge in fighting in South Vietnam with Saigon command statistics saying that Communist attacks during one recent day were at the second highest level in the two years since the cease fire.

The administration originally wanted to spend $1.6 billion on military equipment for South Vietnam during the fiscal year that began July 1. Congress finally imposed a $700 million ceiling.

Pentagon officials said today that as of Dec. 12, $506 million had been spent. That means that 44 per cent of the way through the year, 72 per cent of the funds had been exhausted.

The officials said it was too early to know if the administration would ask Congress for more money, saying it was "not uncommon" to spend unevenly.

If spending stays at current levels, all the money will be gone early in February. To stay within the spending ceiling without requesting more money would require cutting outlays from $95 million a month to only $30 million.

Capped And Gowned But Cannot Read

There is an old gag about high school graduates who can't read their diplomas.

It may not be just an old gag.

Lewis White, a graduate of Balboa High School in San Francisco, was discharged this week by the Air Force because he is unable to read at third grade level. "They put a cap and gown on my son and he can't even read," his mother, Eleanor White, said bitterly.

OVER TWO YEARS ago, the Youth Law Center filed suit for $1 million damages against San Francisco Unified School District in behalf of a high school graduate identified only as "Peter Doe," alleging he had been promoted through school and graduated although he could not read at fifth grade level.

After innumerable delays, Judge Ira Brown of San Francisco Superior Court held a brief hearing on the suit Nov. 14, then dismissed it. He sustained a demurrer from the school district which claimed the public schools are not obligated to teach anything.

Many people, including Eleanor Brown, wonder why they are compelled to send their children to school if the schools, on their part, are not compelled to educate them.

ONE LEGISLATOR who has been trying to do something about this situation is Bill Greene, Democratic assemblyman from the Watts district of Los Angeles.

Two years ago, Greene introduced a bill forbidding automatic promotions. The education lobby objected so violently that the bill never got out of its first committee.

Last year, Greene put in a bill forbidding graduation from high school of anyone who failed to pass an examination showing mastery of the required subjects.

That didn't get anywhere, either, but Greene has not given up.

He has another bill ready for the current session. Either on Jan. 6, when the legislature returns from Christmas recess, or before that, he plans to drop it in the hopper.

IT WILL BE last year's graduation requirement bill with an improvement. It will apply the requirement to graduation from eighth grade as well as high school.

One of the flaws in last year's bill was that it placed no requirement on elementary school districts. A child could be automatically promoted through eighth grade, then sent to high school in another district — since elementary and high schools are in separate districts in many California localities — and the high school would have to teach elementary subjects to the child if he were ever to graduate. Graduation requirements at both eighth and 12th grade levels would avoid that.

Greene claims automatic promotions have a lot to do with the dropout problem. The young people of his Watts district, he said, realize they are being short-changed in the schools because they are not required to learn; so they see no reason to keep attending.

LEWIS WHITE personifies an excellent argument for Bill Greene's bill. So does "Peter Doe."

The education lobby will be against the bill. Parent organizations should be for it. Marin and Sonoma residents would be doing our young people a real favor by writing their legislators to urge its passage.

Look-Alike Hummers

The adult males of Marin's three common species of hummingbirds, the Anna's, the Allen's and the rufous, are fairly easy to differentiate. The Anna's is the only one with a rosy red crown, as well as a red throat. The rufous is the only hummer to have an orangish-red back. And the Allen's can be distinguished by its green back, as well as its firey orange throat which is shares with the rufous.

But the females and immature birds of all three species are very, very similar. Distinguishign them is very difficult, if not impossible.

Found Together

Somethings in Marin's natural world just seem to be found frequently together. Hummingbirds and fuchsias are an example of what we mean. Sow bugs and rocks are another. Robins and earthworns. Rosea and deer. Butterflies and cabbages. Waxwings and hawthorn berries. The list is almost endless. These are the things that feed on other things of a certain kind, or require a certain habitat.

The Truth About Mary Jane Turns Out Not So Innocent

(Reprinted from Mojave Desert News)

Last January, Dr. Morton A. Stenchever of the University of Utah Medical Center reported that the use of marijuana could cause chromosome damage.

In February, Dr. Gabriel Nahas of Columbia University reported research evidence that marijuana may retard the body's immunity defense system against disease.

In April, Dr. Robert C. Kolodny of the Reproductive Biology Research Foundation in St. Louis reported evidence that chronic intensive use of marijuana could decrease fertility, and impair normal sexual development in pre-teenage boys.

LAST SPRING a Senate committee elicited a substantial body of medical testimony to the harmful psychological and physiological effects of marijuana, or Mary Jane as it's sometimes called.

Now the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare is reported to be preparing a new report citing damage to cells and genes from prolonged use of marijuana...

On the basis of what is scientifically known so far, the repeated glib assertions about how harmless marijuana is supposed to be are clearly rash and irresponsible.

CONSEQUENTLY, attempts to make marijuana respectable or acceptable by legalizing it are doing the country a serious disservice.

To paraphrase an old tobacco commercial, with men of science who know marijuana best, it's abstinence by quite a substantial margin.

"Heads we buy the Baltimore Orioles, tails we buy the American League."

ERWIN D. CANHAM:

Ford Appears Waiting For Rockefeller To Help Formulate Domestic Policies

There's a general impression that President Ford is going to lean heavily on Vice President Rockefeller in the formulation of domestic policy.

If this happens, it will be the first time in U.S. history. Often, in recent years, there has been talk of making the job of vice president more meaningful. Never has the talk resulted in much of anything.

But now circumstances are rather different. President Ford has shown great hesitation in the development of vigorous domestic policies, especially on energy. It is almost as if he has been waiting for his vice-president-designate. He has shown great interest in Governor Rockefeller's very impressive National Commission on Critical Choices for Americans.

"Here I am, everybody — at last."

THE INCOMING vice president is both very experienced and very dynamic. Obviously, he wants the new job badly. He must have received assurances that President Ford will give him great opportunity to develop programs and to press them. It is inconceivable to imagine Nelson Rockefeller merely presiding occasionally over the Senate and sitting fruitlessly in various formal boards, like the last several VPs.

How this vigorous man will get along with his chief, and how the president will adjust to so explosive a crown prince will be a decisive situation to watch. The vice president is not second in command. Historically, he has commanded nothing. If Nelson Rockefeller now becomes the strong man in the administration, it will be a great tribute to the selflessness of his chief.

ALREADY, PRESIDENT Ford has shown he can live comfortably with an immensely strong subordinate: Secretary of State Kissinger. The Rockefeller situation will be different in that Dr. Kissinger is in no sense a real political rival. Vice President Rockefeller might be. Whether President Ford enjoys his job so much that he is really eager to run for a second term also remains to be seen. Of course he has had to announce his intention to seek re-election. Otherwise he would put himself into the impotent role of lame duck. But whether, when the chips are down, he will really wish to continue, is for the future to show. Nelson Rockefeller, meantime, has striven time and again to become President of the United States.

If Gerald Ford can empower two such subordinates as Henry Kissinger and Nelson Rockefeller, and then operate effectively over them, it will be a great tribute to his wisdom and capacity for leadership. The greatest perception of leadership, it seems to me, is when an executive appreciates the importance of having strong people around and under him. Dwight Eisenhower did this, but his role as war hero and father figure was unique.

THE COUNTRY GENERALLY has felt the Ford administration needed strengthening. The usual method would have been through the cabinet and the special agency heads and functions such as the Office of Management and Budget or the Council of Economic Advisers. Such posts certainly need to be effectively filled. But if the vice presidency can really become meaningful, so much the better. That seems to be what President Ford has decided to attempt.

Maybe it will work, and the doldrums of recent months in the development of national policy may come to an end. It is possible we'll all agree that President Ford has been right in not galloping off in all directions. Even his pardon of Richard Nixon in the long, cool light of history may be seen as the least undesirable choice.

The economy, however, cannot rectify itself without effective national policies, especially in the curbing of reliance on imported oil. For such policies, we still wait.

More broadly, and of utmost importance, the long-range programs by which the American style of life will be changed, to adjust ourselves to a vastly changing and urgently challenging world, are still to emerge. That was the agenda of the Commission on Critical Choices.

Mrs. Belrose Keeps Vaudeville Alive

On Nov. 20, you published an article on the Vaudeville Showcase which is currently playing at the Belrose Studio Theater in San Rafael. Unfortunately, some of it was misleading and (having studied here for 12 years) I'd like to set things straight.

First, let me point out that none of the performers "star" in the show (as you implied) — but contribute equally and so deserve equal praise. Further, although Ms. Patti Newman is indeed co-director (as well as a performer) — the production of the show, the idea which sparked it, and much of the direction comes from Margie Belrose, owner and director of the Belrose Studio. It is through her efforts and perseverence that vaudeville is "alive and well in San Rafael", and I think it wrong to ignore this fact by ignoring her in your article. Surely you strive to give credit where it is due?

Cleanup Proposed Along Fourth Street

Hurrah for Marne Colton of the Wide Horizon Shop.

The mayor and councilmen should walk, not ride, down Fourth Street to Lincoln — tiptoe through dog excretion and kicking aside broken beer bottles, and coke cans — and also take a look at the dirty corner culverts — it is no wonder we have flooded streets when it rains.

The planters on the 1100 block on Fourth Street should be done away with — as they are just a catch all for debris — trash dispensers should be closed type and one should be in the middle of the block on each side of the street — the open wired ones are unsightly and should be discarded.

I know I wouldn't feel too proud to be mayor of San Rafael in the condition the business district is in.

Beggars Mime Group Show Rewarding

Recently there was an article about "Creative Living" in the womens' section of your paper. It is a very helpful, fine group. Yesterday, Dec. 16, I was fortunate to be there when the "Beggars Theater Mime and Puppetry Group" were so kind as to perform for us.

We all have problems and try to help each other. During their performance all our problems were completely forgotten. They were wonderful. They're very talented and we all were entranced. We had many laughs and maybe a few tears but it was a beautiful presentation of the Christmas story.

They perform at the Intersection Theater in San Francisco. It was a delightful performance and they are certainly deserving of notice — especially by anybody who might be helpful in advancing their careers . . .

Special Education Program Failure

The primary concern of my writing is our Marin Special Education Program which is designed to serve the needs of the handicapped.

As in most things, the purpose is extremely vital and necessary; but in the administration of such efforts there currently exists many abuses and faults which should be exposed to public view not for only a financial purpose; but rather as the individual children in the programs are being denied full potential development which is an irreparable loss for each individual.

The cost of the program (per child) including transportation facilities and staff costs the taxpayer an approximate $3,500 per year each (this figure was stated by a member of the superintendent of schools office), and failure to effect maximum development of each individual child is a failure that can deny the very existence and future of each individual, with the further potential burden on the local and various agencies to provide auxillary support for life if potential gains and training are not reached . . .

Following five years in the program and early lack of results, we attempted to obtain guidance from outside sources to develop teaching methods to overcome handicaps (at our own expense) and the school ignored or stated an inability to effect their use which lead to a three-year period of little or no progress . . .

We have since left the public system and are amazed at the results possible from a school that sets goals and alter methods to an individualized program and the cost of this program is over $1,000 less annually than the tax supported, ineffective county program.

The problems lie, foremost in the usual hide-bound, self serving, bureaucracy, with unmotivated teachers (protected by tenure) and a county school office which seeks growth and whitewashes or obfuscates any controversial issue . . .

CAPITOL QUIPS

By PHIL DESSAUER

Maybe we did have an overheated economy at one time, but did we have to turn the thermostat to freezing?

Don't get excited when President Ford comes out in favor of controls. He'll be talking about controls on Congress.

In a couple of weeks Americans will be able to buy gold bars. But some states still won't allow drinks to be sold over them.

JOSEPH C. HARSCH

The Word On Capitol Hill: Nixon Holdovers Must Go

WASHINGTON — Republican leaders on Capitol Hill say they have been promised by President Ford that all Nixon holdovers will be out of the White House by the first of January. This includes Budget Director Ray Ash, who is largely blamed by the Hill Republicans for the three useless vetoes — bills which were bound to pass by overwhelming majorities. Why bother to veto the inevitable? The fact that the president did veto them, to be overridden, is seen to be a measure of Ash's lack of political perceptiveness.

Also, there will be cabinet changes during late winter. By spring, the GOP leaders are assured, President Ford will be in charge of his own administration rather than one left over by the departure of Richard Nixon, who has become the forgotten man of Washington politics.

(In a series of talks with various political figures in Washington last week, the Nixon name never came up except when I asked whether the person with whom I was talking had had a recent telephone call from him. The answer was invariably no.)

In all conversations there was lively interest in the probable idntity of 1976 presidential candidates. Republicans note that the Democrats never seriously tried to prevent the confirmation of Nelson Rockefeller to be vice president but only to "wound him" enough so that he would be a less desirable Republican candidate two years from now.

MOST REPUBLICANS dutifully protest their loyalty to Mr. Ford, but when pressed for alternate possibilities "in the event that Mr. Ford withdraws," they produce quite a crop of names. Among those mentioned more than once were Governor Milliken of Michigan, Governor Bond of Missouri, Governor Evans of Washington — and Elliot Richardson, former attorney general.

The only one of these known to have an established "game plan" toward the nomination is Mr. Richardson, who worked hard during the 1974 campaign to establish his identity and usefulness as a Republican by campaigning for others who were running. He has been holed up at the Smithsonian Institution working on a political book scheduled for publication "in the fall of 1975." Now he has accepted a sudden appointment to London, one of those wild card moves which have been so successful in his career in the past.

RELATIONS BETWEEN Republican leaders on Capitol Hill and the White House are improving but are still far from perfect. In spite of pre-election promises, no machinery yet exists for regular meetings between the president and the Hill leaders of his own party. However, they are "getting through to him" on matters which they consider of vital importance.

They have been assured, for example, that voluntarism will be abandoned as a sufficient answer to the energy problem. Allocations and import restrictions are expectable in the next "State of the Union" message, but a high gasoline tax is definitely out, mostly because almost everyone on the Hill is against it.

IT IS TAKEN for granted in all conversations that Nelson Rockefeller will step straight from confirmation into being "the Henry Kissinger of domestic affairs," making the major decisions about the economy. Expectations seem almost to amount to President Ford slipping into the role of ceremonial head of state with two prime ministers running the government: Mr. Rockefeller for domestic affairs and Dr. Kissinger for foreign affairs. The prospect seems to be cheering, not dismaying, to most on the Hill.

Biggest anxiety is over the Middle East. Another Arab-Israeli war would presumably mean another oil embargo and a most damaging further shock to the economy and the alliance. In effect, Dr. Kissinger has been told that he simply cannot allow any such thing to happen. He is said to have given assurances that Israel will be provided with whatever it needs to defend its own frontiers, but not with the capacity to take offensive action. Senators and congressmen hope profoundly that he can do just that.

Governor's Sister Also Bitten By Politics Bug

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Another of the Brown family is about to enter California politics as a candidate for elective office.

This time it is Kathleen Brown Rice, the 29-year-old sister of Gov.-elect Edmund G. "Jerry" Brown Jr. and daughter of former two-term Gov. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown.

In an interview, Ms. Rice disclosed yesterday she will announce her candidacy Jan. 25 for a seat on the Los Angeles Unified School District Board.

Why run for office? She laughs, "Maybe it is in my blood."

A similar education office in Los Angeles, the Community College Board of Trustees, provided Jerry Brown the first test for his political ambitions five years ago. A year later he was secretary of state, and last Nov. 5 captured the highest office in California.

Pat Brown similarly ascended from local to statewide office and then to the governorship.

Still, Ms. Rice's only avowed interest is public education, where she has been involved in volunteer activities, and the April 1 school board election.

During much of this year, she and her husband, Los Angeles attorney George Rice, worked full-time on the Brown campaign. Rice was chief advance man, she traveled a speaking circuit.

Her father was San Francisco district attorney when she was born, the last of four children. By the time she entered school, Pat Brown was state attorney general. When she was 13, the family moved into the governor's mansion in Sacramento.

"Yes, it's a topic of interest, curiosity, that yet another Brown is thowing a hat into the political ring. But it's because I was raised in a family where public office is one of the highest callings we can aspire to," she said.

Four of seven board seats are up for election in the huge school district, which covers Los Angeles and nine surrounding communities. Runoffs will be held May 27 in races where no candidate wins a majority of votes.

Ms. Rice will run for a four-year term in office No. 1. Her expected opponent is 16-year incumbent J.N. Chambers, a white-haired business consultant.

She has retained a campaign manager and from her Los Angeles home is soliciting contributions for what she expects will be a "quite substantial" campaign budget, about $50,000 to be used mainly for radio advertising and mailing. And that does not include campaign money for a runoff.

The job as a school board member is part-time, about 2 days a week, and pays $100 a meeting.

Attractive and the mother of three small children, Ms. Rice capitalizes on the Brown successes by retaining the family surname as part of her name both formally and casually. A lifetime in politics has given her a refined campaign style, somewhere between the conviviality of her father and the reserve of her brother.

KATHLEEN BROWN RICE
To enter politics

She is a strong advocate of women's rights, and echoes her brother's call for "more energy" in politics, "more of a commitment to the job. "She's the best politician in the family," one young admirer said unabashedly.

Police Denounce Juvenile Courts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police angrily denounced the juvenile courts after a 16-year-old with a record of 12 arrests shot two students on a high school campus, killing one, in a gang war.

"Are the courts doing their part? It is clear that they have not done their part," said police Capt. Stephen Downing, in the latest of what has become a series of strong police criticisms of the juvenile courts for releasing young criminals.

The alleged killer had been arrested 12 times, six times for felonies, including carrying guns, robbery, burglary and auto theft.

"The police have done their part with this individual," Downing said. "The issue is the protection of the community" by the "non-system" of justice in juvenile courts, he said.

The youth who did the shooting was arrested Oct. 26 for an incident involving guns in a gang conflict. He was immediately released and the very next day was arrested for armed robbery, Downing said.

Police said the arrested youth —who cannot be identified by name because of his age — walked onto the campus at Manual Arts High School during lunch period yesterday, looking for Charles Riley, 17, in a war between gangs known as "The Family" and the "Brims." Riley was a known member of "The Family," while the "Brims" dominate the campus, students said.

The youth, not a student, shot Riley, seriously wounding him, and then fired at Anthony Mack, 16, killing him instantly. The killer fled with two other youths who had a car waiting.

Police took three suspects into custody within 90 minutes, seizing a gun.

'Congratulations, You Made It'; Advice For Nelson Rockefeller

Hon. Nelson Rockefeller
Executive Office Building
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Vice President:

May I offer my congratulations as it looks like you are finally being confirmed to the second highest office in the land. You join a long list of famous and illustrious people in this distinguished post, including Elbridge Gerry, Daniel Tompkins, George Dallas, Hannibal Hamlin, Schuyler Colfax, Garrett Hobart, Thomas Marshall, Charles Curtis, and Spiro T. Agnew.

Some Americans tend to make fun of the vice presidents of our country, but they're wrong. It is a job which demands tremendous knowledge, great statesmanship and extreme tenacity — all of which you need to get in to see the president.

I DON'T WANT you to get too excited by Mr. Ford's promises to make you "his strong right arm." Translated into presidential terms this means you will be sent to swearing-ins of new heads of state (which recently became a full-time job), attending funerals of departed world leaders, speaking at party fund-raising dinners, and playing golf with Bob Hope.

Your desk is in the Executive Office Building, separated by an alley from the White House, and only a three-minute walk to the president's office. Unfortunately, there is a wall of presidential aides stationed in the alley, most of them former all-American linebackers, who are prepared to tackle any vice president who tries to see the president.

For your own safety I would suggest that, if you really want to see the president, you go in the tourists' entrance and then make a dash for the Oval Office. The presidential aides will be expecting you to come across the alley and if you have luck you could make it.

OCCASIONALLY, the president holds official ceremonies in the Rose Garden and you might wangle an invitation to one of those. If you arrive early, you can get a good spot behind the rope and see the president close up.

I know one vice president of the United States who actually got to meet the president when he pretended he was the father of the March of Dimes poster child.

Another good way to see the president is at the Army-Navy football game, particularly at half-time when he crosses the field to sit on the other side.

NOW I KNOW what you're going to ask next. "What do I say if I ever get to meet the president?"

The important thing is to be yourself. President Ford is a very simple man and he will immediately put you at ease. If he asks you a question, don't hesitate to answer. Many vice presidents become tongue-tied in the presence of the President of the United States. But remember this: He puts on his pants every morning the same as you do (even though on some occasions his don't fit).

The president will probably ask you about your family and what you do for a living. Don't beat about the bush. Tell him you're the vice president of the United States and, if he wants details, make them up. On no condition admit to him that you don't do anything because President Ford is always looking for ways of cutting the budget, and you certainly don't want him to do away with your job.

There is more advice I could give you, but I don't want you to absorb too much at one time. The thing to remember when you get discouraged is that the job pays well, and it's the next best thing to serving your country.

San Rafael air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.
Other areas:
San Francisco, light air pollution.
San Jose, light air pollution.
Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources.

Smith Heads Coastal Chamber

Pleasant R. Smith, a carpenter and builder, has been elected president of the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce for 1975.

Smith, 60, of Drake's Summit Road, was elected at the chamber's recent Christmas party.

Smith has been a resident of West Marin for 22 years, having previously lived in San Francisco.

He is a member of Carpenters Union, Local 35, the Point Reyes Businessmen's Association and the First Methodist Church of San Rafael.

He served in the Army during World War II including 18 months in the South Pacific as an infantryman and held the rank of corporal. Smith was graduated from Sacramento Junior College and the Advertising Academy in San Francisco.

He is a native of Cherryville, Kan. He was moved to Oklahoma while a youngster and then moved to California in 1928.

His wife, M. Loree Smith, is a hospital administrator and they have a daughter, Belva Frische.

Hugh Riley of Point Reyes Station was elected vice president, while Emma K. Benevenga of Olema was reelected secretary and Janettte Tanner of Point Reyes Station was reelected treasurer.

The chamber will have its next meeting at 8 p.m. Jan. 9 at Jerry's Farm House, Olema.

Manson Judge Exonerated

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older, who presided over the Charles Manson family trial for the Sharon Tate murders, will not have to face charges himself, the district attorney said this week.

District Attorney Joseph Busch said his office had agreed to stand by a decision by a deputy district attorney not to act on a complaint from two college students that Older threatened them with a pistol after a traffic accident.

The judge, who has a permit to carry the gun, said he took it out of his auto's glove compartment because he thought the students were threatening him. He said he never pointed it at them.

Today is Thursday, Dec. 19, the 353rd day of 1974 with 12 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

British Arctic explorer William Perry was born Dec. 19, 1790.

On this day in history:

In 1777, George Washington and the Continental Army began a winter encampment at Valley Forge, Pa.

In 1965, French President Charles de Gaulle won a second five-year term.

In 1968, Norman Thomas, six-time Socialist Party presidential candidate, died at the age of 84.

In 1972, the splashdown of Apollo 17 ended America's moon exploration program.

A thought for the day: German philosopher Arthur Schopenhauer said, "Intellect is invisible to the man who has none."

WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

With A Double-Stopper, You Should Let First Trick Go By

When you can win two tricks in the enemy's suit, you may still gain by letting them win the first trick. This is particularly true when you must give up the lead twice in order to develop your own long suit.

Opening lead — ♠ 6

West leads the six of spades, and East puts up the jack. You don't have to be a mind reader in this situation to know that West has the king of spades.

You must refuse to win the first trick with the queen of spades. You're still sure of two spade tricks, since your queen-ten will operate for a finesse through West's king.

Let's see why the delay pays. East leads his other spade at the second trick, and West must allow you to win. You give up a club to the ace, and East cannot lead a third spade.

It doesn't matter what East does lead. You win and knock out the king of clubs while you still have a spade stopper. The opponents get one spade and two clubs, but you win the rest.

If you win the first trick with the queen of spades and knock out the ace of clubs, East returns his other spade. This enables West to force out your second spade trick. West eventually takes the king of clubs and the rest of the spades to defeat the contract.

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - K 9 8 6 2 ♦ - 7 5
♥ - 7 6 ♣ - K 5 3 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

If parnter makes a move toward game you will second the motion, but you cannot afford a stronger bid to begin with.

Tax On Telephone Bills Will Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal excise tax on the average telephone bill will drop about 7 cents a month beginning Jan. 1, the Internal Revenue Service said yesterday.

In its annual reminder to taxpayers, the IRS said the new rate for the federal excise tax will be 7 per cent, down from 8 per cent in 1974.

Executive Raps TV Exercise

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Too many Americans get their only physical exercise sitting in front of a television set watching athletes perform, according to an insurance executive recently appointed to the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.

"Too early in life some people resign themselves as watchers because they have learned they can't win as they're supposed to," said John J. Byrne. He blames this in part on the availability of sports on television. He also blames the excessive urge to win built into the competitive system in this country.

Byrne has been unofficial spokesman for his company's Physical Exercise Pays (PEP) promotion.

PEP was designed to convince people that exercise is fun, and to involve people in sports the whole family can enjoy, such as badminton, bicycling and cross-country skiing.

Byrne said a study done by the President's Council shows that 45 per cent of adults don't engage in any exercise beyond their daily routine. And of the 55 per cent who do exercise, less than half exercise the three times a week that is necessary to derive benefits.

Byrne, who gets up at 6 a.m., every day, jumps rope, does pushups, situps and other calisthenics for 10 minutes, and works from 7:30 to 8 a.m. until 11 p.m. most work days. He swims with his wife and three sons in the summer and skis in the winter and often plays golf.

He said he doesn't feel intimidated by professional athletes and wishes other Americans didn't. But the heavy emphasis on winning in professional sports is becoming strongly entrenched "even in organized sports for young boys and girls, discouraging all but the most capable and competitive from participating."

Tree-Planting Project Slated

The Novato Environmental Quality Committee will get its tree planting program under way within the next month, according to planner David Wade.

The committee has identified locations where street trees are needed, and about 20 are to be planted, Wade said.

Committee members Monday night agreed to find out what steps can be taken to combat Modesto ash blight.

Medallion Deadline Is Extended

Deadline for Marin County students to enter designs for the Marin Bicentennial Medallion has been extended to Jan. 31, according to Nancy King Hayden, county Bicentennial commission chairman.

Students in any of Marin's public, private or parochial schools may enter, and there are divisions for grade four through six, seven through nine, high school and college.

Each division winner will receive a prize of $50, and the overall winner will receive $200 and a silver medallion struck from his design, Mrs. Hayden said.

Silver and bronze medals will be made from the prize-winning design to commemorate Marin's participation in the Bicentennial celebration for the country.

Students who already have submitted an entry may submit another one if they desire because of the deadline extension, Mrs. Hayden said.

Winners will be announced in February.

Tomales Middle School On Agenda

The Shoreline Unified School District board will discuss progress toward constructing a Tomales middle school at 7:30 p.m. today at Tomales High School.

Voters last June approved construction of seven classrooms and a multipurpose room at the site near Tomales Elementary School.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Mac Davis Should Have Smelled Script As Well

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Mac Davis Show," which did well this summer as a hot weather substitute series, is returning tonight on NBC-TV as a winter mini-series of music and comedy appearing from now to mid-March.

I hate to give it a chilly reception, but the kindest thing one can say about the opening show is that it is totally undistinguished both in format and musical arrangements.

Davis, a young veteran songwriter and singer, has an appealing down-home way, but it's wasted in a Hollywood hack job of much flash and little good writing, pacing or editing.

Songwriter-singer Paul Williams, Connie Stevens and Paul Lynde are on hand to help him face the nation, but they, too, are largely misused in this hour of doze.

Davis, after an opening round of audience-joshing, kicks off the proceedings by singing "Stop and Smell the Roses."

He should have stopped and smelled the script, which propels him into a skit about a weary country singer on tour whose plane is fogged in and who must share a hotel room with a gabby fellow traveller.

The traveller (Lynde), upon seeing the snoozing balladeer, gripes that he has a first-class ticket, yet must share "a tacky hotel room with a dead cowboy."

Things go downhill after that, and aren't salvaged by a Williams-Davis medley of their favorite hits, nor by a rendition of "Stoney End" by Miss Stevens.

Quick, satirical blackout skits don't help either, nor does a long takeoff on "The Waltons," in which Lynde, cast as a miserly banker, meets "The Daltons," a dirt-poor Depression family.

Wait. There is one good line in "The Daltons." It occurs when the plug-ugly daughter Kay Dingle asks the banker: "Wanna fool around?" Cries he: "Has she had her shots yet?"

About the only time the show almost comes to life is when Davis seeks song titles offered by the audience — "Hot Night" and "Golf is a Four-Letter Word" are among those proposed — and he has some fun composing brief songs to match the titles.

He works well with an audience, but if future shows don't improve, he may not have one. Which would be a shame, because he's a good performer who deserves better support than he's now getting.

So much for grumbling. Now, let us urge you to watch a syndicated country music show called "Pop Goes the Country" should it ever pop up in the TV listings in your city.

Hosted by Ralph Emery, a disc jockey widely respected in the country music field, the program comes from Nashville, Tenn., and features at least two country stars per show.

While it has a small budget and a smaller band, it puts a lot of relaxed, easy enjoyment in the 30 minutes allotted it each week. It's fun to watch, and you don't hardly find that kind on TV any more.

TONIGHT'S TELEVISION

Unusual on television tonight:

KCRA (3), KRON (4), 8 p.m. — Mac Davis returns to series television in his new "The Mac Davis Show." Guest stars are Connie Stevens, Paul Williams and Paul Lynde. Comedian Bo Kaprall will be a regular on the show.

KGO (7), 10 p.m. — The life of Egyptian President Anwar el-Sadat, from his birth on Christmas Day, 1918, in the Nile Delta region, through the present, is the subject of the documentary special, "Sadat: Action Biography." Peter Jennings, the correspondent and co-producer of the program, said the biography of the Egyptian president is the most ambitious ever attempted to chronicle the life of the multi-faced leader.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 11:30 p.m. — George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO in a rare talk show appearance, and economists John Kenneth Galbraith and Pierre Renfret, assess the nation's economic health on "The Dick Cavett Show," a "Wide World of Entertainment" presentation.

Novato Firemen Soon To Have New Ambulances

The Novato Fire Protection District has received its three new ambulances and is aiming to have them in service by Jan. 1, according to Fire Chief Jack W. Kidder.

The ambulances, approved by voters in June, are now being equipped, the chief said.

The district board Monday night reappointed M. E. (Babe) Silva and Agnes Kelly to the personnel commission for four years and authorized a 90-day trial period for wearing of burgundy blazers by the fire prevention officer, fire marshal and fire inspector.

Commissioners William L. Boyle and Richard W. Price and Chief Kidder were authorized to attend a meeting of the Special Districts Fire Association of California in Modesto, Jan. 10, 11 and 12.

...SO WEAK LEGS MAY WALK

Scholar-Athletes: Fine Group Of Men

SAN FRANCISCO — Three young gentlemen were awarded $1,000 scholarships last night but if Ernie Nevers had his way there would have been 22 such awards.

It was at the 15th annual National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete awards dinner at the San Francisco Hilton. It was the yearly time the Northern California chapter of the foundation honors 22 football players from 11 Bay Area counties.

"It's always been my dream to have every one of the 22 boys win those $1,000 scholarships," said Nevers after the night's activities were ended. Nevers, of Tiburon, is a past president of the NorCal chapter and a member of pro football's hall of fame. The 72-year-old grand man of football has been declared by some the best player to have ever taken up the sport.

"It's just a shame some of the large companies of the Bay Area don't come up with the money for more of these scholarships," said Ernie, bent somewhat because of arthritis but still a very impressive figure. "If they could only see some of these young men . . . they're the future of our country."

ERNIE WAS EXACTLY right. The 22 young men honored last night, including lineman Bob Praszker of Tamalpais High and quarterback Mike Moroski of Novato, were not just football players. They were among the best students of their respective schools. Winning a place on the scholar-athlete roster isn't based only on the ability to play the game of football. They also have to be scholars.

All of them had at least strong B averages and some of them were straight A students.

But because there weren't 22 scholarships to give, the foundation did the best they could. They gave three $1,000 grants. One went to Cory Elmore of Ukiah High, another to John Lockett of Clear Lake High School and a third to Martin Capron of Soquel High in Santa Cruz, students whose grade point averages ran between 3.2 and 3.5.

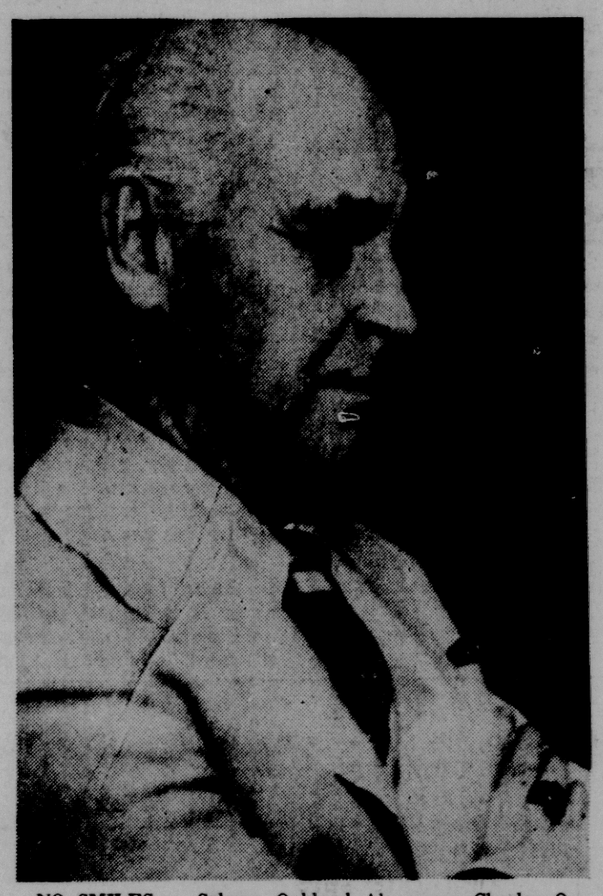
ELMORE AND LOCKETT were there to proudly pick up their awards but Capron couldn't make it. Instead he's flat on his back and very ill in Dominican Hospital in Santa Cruz.

The 21 scholar-athletes at the head table were introduced to the capacity crowd of 900 by James Kearney, principal of Lowell High School in San Francisco. When he introduced Dean Triggas, a lineman from El Camino High School in San Mateo County, he read off all his off-field accomplishments and reported his 3.4 grade point average. "And also," said Kearney, "he has been deaf since birth." Unbelievable. I was able to congratulate the young man and he read my lips beautifully.

IT WAS quite an evening. In addition to the presentations to the scholar-athletes, all the members of the East and West teams for the Dec. 28 Shrine Game at Stanford were introduced by game chairman Bob Murphy.

Actually it was like Stanford night in the huge ballroom of the Hilton. The guest speaker of the evening was former 49er John Brodie, one of Stanford's all-time great quarterbacks. Nevers was the most famous of all the former Stanford football players. Murphy used to be the sports information director at Stanford. And at least 10 of the scholar-athletes are headed for Stanford, according to the introductions read by Kearney.

There's a bright future for those 22 young men honored last night.



NO SMILES — Solemn Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley listened intently with arms folded as reporters fired questions at him following a hearing yesterday in Alameda Superior Court. (UPI Telephoto)

He Won't Give Up On Hunter Battle

NEW YORK (UPI) — While (Catfish) Hunter holds court today in Hertford, N.C., on a dozen or so more million dollar offers for his pitching services, Charlie Finley is not yet through in court 3,000 miles away despite an initial setback in his attempt to keep baseball's most coveted right-hander in Oakland.

Hunter, who became a free agent Monday when an arbitration board ruled in his favor over a contract dispute with Finley, has confirmed "at least eight or nine offers" for his services already in the first official day of open bidding.

A's owner Finley, meanwhile, true to his code, wasn't giving up just yet, but was refubbed yesterday in Alameda County Superior Court in his first court case when, California judge Spurgeon Avakian declined to issue a temporary restraining that would have prohibited Hunter from negotiating or signing contracts with other clubowners.

However, the judge did set the case down for arguments, Jan. 3.

"Realistically, I don't think there will be a contract signed before then because the clubs would be leery of signing Mr. Hunter with court action pending and Mr. Hunter would be anxious to get the top dollar," Avakian told attorneys at the in-chambers session.

"I'm not worried," said Hunter. "When this arbitration panel was set up, both the owners and the ballplayers agreed its decisions over contract conflicts would be binding.

"I see that as meaning binding for both sides — not just the players."

Meanwhile, Hunter's phone has hardly stopped ringing in Hertford with the Yankees, Red Sox, Angels, Twins, Indians, Expos, Braves, Pirates and Royals all confirming to have made overtures to the 28-year old American League Cy Young Award winner.

"What he's worth and what he can get is beside the question," said Gene Autry, Board Chairman of the California Angels. "I think he will go pretty high. As for a million dollars, well, I wouldn't be surprised if he doesn't go for that."

Pittsburgh Pirates' general manager Joe Brown also expressed his interest openly, but hedged as to how high he would go. "We want to be fair to our own players in negotiations," said Brown. "Naturally, if we went too high in trying to land Hunter, it would have a damaging effect on contract talks with the other Pirate players."

A rather surprising admitted bidder for Hunter was Calvin Griffith of the Minnesota Twins — not known to be one of baseball's biggest spendthrifts.

"I have no idea what he wants," said Griffith, "but I'm going to meet with my auditor and staff and see how much we can come up with."

Hunter, of course, while not setting any limit on his services, does have some specific ideas of what should be included in his new contract.

"In particular, I'm asking for securities and annuities in the form of insurance for my kids," he said. "Plus, I'd want a bonus for myself, a long term contract, say five years, and annuities for me."

In professing little or no worry over Finley's threatened suit, Hunter also noted he had not heard a word from the suddenly-quieted A's owner.

"The only person from the A's organization I've talked to since this whole thing broke on Monday is Gene Tenace's wife," Hunter said.

But that didn't necessarily mean he wouldn't be hearing from Finley before too long.

"I suspect," said Catfish, "he (Finley) will probably sneak in at the last of the bidding with his offer."

OVER QUOTE

Raiders' Star, Csonka Disagree

OAKLAND (UPI) — Phil Villapiano, the Oakland Raiders' All-Star corner linebacker, noted a quote by Miami's Larry Csonka that no linebacker can stop him alone.

Villiapiano not only does not agree, he doesn't think Csonka even said it. He'll have a chance to find out Saturday at 1 p.m. in the big Raiders-Dolphins National Football League playoff battle Saturday at the Oakland Coliseum.

"Larry is a tough back," said Villiapiano yesterday, "but sure, I've stopped him one-on-one. He ought to review game films."

Middle linebacker Dan Conners commented only "these pre-game statements don't mean much."

Truthfully, none of the players on either side needs psyching up for the playoff, which observers feel is most likely to produce the eventual Super Bowl champ.

One of Saturday's key battles up front in the pit will find Raider offensive tackle Art Shell, another All-Conference pick, trying to contain defensive end Bill Stanfill, who accounted for 10 of the Dolphins' 31 sacks this season.

"He's a tough one," says Shell. "He stands about 6-5, weighs 255, is very quick and tough.

Marin Catholic Is Beaten In Tourney

SANTA ROSA — Cardinal Newman High School, running off to a 44-27 first half lead, crushed Marin Catholic, 72-50, last night in one of the opening games of the Rose City Basketball Tournament.

Pat Fitzgerald scored 20 points and Jerry Robinson 16 to pace the Santa Rosa team's attack. Tim Hurley led Marin with 14.

In the other opener, St. Patrick's of Vallejo edged Napa High, 45-43 in overtime.

Marin Catholic will meet Napa tomorrow at 5 o'clock in a consolation game in the Cardinal Newman gym.

Washington Reopens Search For Coach

SEATTLE (UPI) — Following the loss of a second top candidate in less than a week, the University of Washington today was back in a wide-open search for a replacement for retired head football coach Jim Owens.

Mike White, the head coach at the University of California, yesterday announced he was not interested in the Husky job. That followed a visit by White to the Washington campus Monday to talk with officials.

Washington also lost Dan Devine earlier this week when he resigned from the National Football League Green Bay Packers and immediately was picked up by Notre Dame.

Douglas Porter, highly successful coach at Howard University in Washington, D.C., met with Washington officials in Seattle yesterday. Scheduled to visit the campus today was Darryl Rogers, coach at San Jose State.

Newcombe, Rosewall Fall In New South Wales Net

Combined AP & UPI

SYDNEY — Top seeds John Newcombe and Ken Rosewall were easily beaten in quarter-final action of the New South Wales (NSW) Open Tennis Championships today.

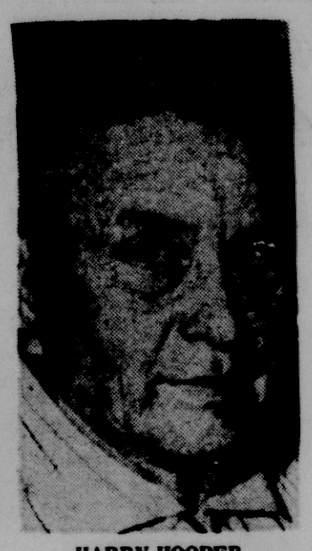
Newcombe was ousted, 6-4, 6-4, by young Australian Phil Dent while Rosewall suffered a similar straight sets fate, losing 6-2, 7-6, to left-handed Australian Tony Roche.

The women's singles quarter-finals went according to plan and the semi-finalists will be Evonne Goolagong, Olga Morozova, Margaret Court and Kerry Melville. Miss Melville downed Japan's Kazuko Sawamatsu 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, while Mrs. Court had a tough three-setter against her 18-year-old protege, Dianne Fromholtz. Mrs. Court won 6-7, 6-3, 6-1.

Mrs. Morozova had a tough time too, before beating Australian Helen Gourlay 7-5, 3-6, 6-4. Miss Goolagong easily disposed of another Australian, Kerry Harris, 6-3, 6-0.

Baseball

SANTA CRUZ — Former Boston Red Sox outfielder Harry Hooper, who had been the oldest living member of the baseball Hall of Fame, died yesterday at the age of 87. Hooper, together with Tris Speaker and Duffy Lewis, made up a great defensive outfield that helped Boston win the World Series in 1912, 1915, 1916 and 1918.



HARRY HOOPER
Dead at 87

CLEVELAND — Pitcher Gaylord Perry, former American League Cy Young Award winner, yesterday signed a two-year contract with the Cleveland Indians.

Skiing

AALBACH, Austria — Austrian World Cup holder AnneMarie Moser-Proell today won the first women's parallel ski race on European slopes ahead of 17-year-old Christa Zechmeister of West Germany. Times were unavailable.

Football

LONG BEACH — Placekicker David Ray, who has been ailing with muscle spasms in his back and side, left the hospital yesterday and rejoined the Los Angeles Rams, preparing for their National Football League playoff opener against the Washington Redskins. The Rams said, however, Ray was still a questionable starter for Sunday's game.

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. — Tom Cahill, former head coach at the U.S. Military Academy, yesterday was named head coach at Union College.

HOW THE MIGHTY HAVE FALLEN

Outspoken tennis star Billie Jean King yesterday gestured while addressing reporters at a New York press conference where she voiced her displeasure about being displaced as No. 1 by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association. Mrs. King claimed that the demotion had nothing to do with curtailing her 1975 tournament schedule or signing a six-figure contract as an ABC network sports commentator. Billie Jean is ranked second behind Chris Evert. (UPI Telephoto)

Warriors Got More Than Anticipated

By TODD NEMANIC

NEW YORK (UPI) — Before the current National Basketball Association season, the Chicago Bulls and the Golden State Warriors swapped centers, unheralded Clifford Ray for long-time star Nate Thurmond.

There was cash involved and the Warriors also received rights to Chicago's No. 1 draft choice in 1975 but it was obviously a youth for age agreement. The Warriors were thinking future and the Bulls were thinking now.

The irony is that Ray has helped turn the Warriors into winners much sooner than expected and the Bulls, with Thurmond, are struggling to play .500 ball.

A lot of observers are surprised at this turnabout, but one man who isn't surprised is Cliff Ray.

"I'm not at all surprised at the fact that the Bulls are not playing as well as a lot of people expected," says Cliff. "The Bulls have always been what I would call a passing team. And passing has always been the heart of my offensive game.

"I don't think they realized how much I was doing for their offense," he says clinically, without boasting. "Maybe now they realize it. There just isn't anybody around who can pass any better than me."

Ray's passing has been a big factor in captain Rick Barry's best season ever.

"Cliff's always willing to sacrifice his average for the good of the team," says Rick. "That's a feeling that's catching on throughout the team and that's why we're winning."

"Basically, I'm a defensive player, though," says Ray, "and in that way the Bulls have got less than they bargained for, too. They weakened their defense to strengthen their offense and it hasn't worked so far. Though you have to remember that they have had some other peoblems, too."

The round-shouldered, muscular Ray has had one burden lifted from him by the trade that may have something to do with his improved play.

"I'm just so happy to be away from the Bulls' organization that I could jump up and down right now," he said.

"I love my old teammates and the city of Chicago, but I can't tell you how glad I am to be away from the Chicago Bulls franchise and coach Dick Motta. It's just like day and night, the difference between these two organizations.

"Coach Al Attles runs things, both on and off the floor, in a much, much better way."

"Basically, my role here is similar to what it was with the Bulls," Ray went on. "Although I have been going to the basket a little more, working on my hook a lot, I try to remember that I don't want to get in the way of the offense.

"When Rick (Barry, the NBA leading scorer) is hot, which is most of the time these days, I just look to pick for him and set him up with good passes.

"It's kind of silly for me to be shooting if there is any way to get him the ball in good position, because he's just the best there is."

It won't be long before Ray gets a chance to show his old team what he can do when the Warriors meet the Bulls in Oakland Jan. 11 at 8 p.m.

"I look forward to the game. I've thought about it a lot and I can tell you it definitely will not be just another game for me."

GEORGE STEWART

Marinite Off And Running For Army In S.F. Presidio

By C. D. STERN

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO — When Specialist Four George Stewart goes to visit his mother's home in Mill Valley from his job at the Presidio, he doesn't always travel by car or bus. In fact, he will tell you he would rather run the nine-mile distance.

Stewart usually does.

Taking a Spartan's way of travel is all part of the 25-year-old soldier's job. He is a medium and long-distance runner on the United States Army track and field team, and running his way around is all part of his daily training.

Stewart has been on the Army team for the 18 months that he has been in the service. He spends most of his work days, and sometimes weekends, training for the upcoming inter-service track and field meets, which are scheduled to begin in February.

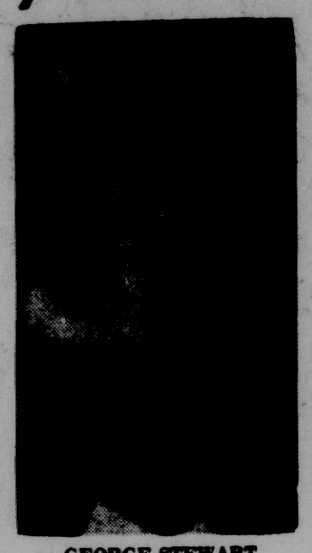
When the 1975 Pan-American Games kick off later in the year in Mexico City, Stewart hopes to be competing there, too.

"Though I usually train on a regular track, I prefer to run on pathways," says the Oklahoma State and University graduate and former College of Marin Tar. "I find running on the numerous paths and bike trails that line the terrain in this area more inspiring and less boring than tracks are. Speed isn't as essential as stamina, and trail-running improves my stamina."

The tall, lean Army man, who is assigned to the 504th MP Battalion but doesn't work as an MP, specializes in the three-mile, six-mile, and other races up to the 50-mile marathon.

He has been training for the team since August, 1973, after coming here straight from basic training. But it wasn't until April of this year that he was able to join the Army track and field team for training at Ft. MacArthur in Los Angeles.

"Before going to Ft. MacArthur, I trained here for shorter races such as the 880-yard dash, and the one and two-mile races," said Stewart. "But shorter races require harder running and speed, and while practicing at one of these races I tore some tendons and pulled a hamstring muscle. The injuries kept me from trailing for awhile, and when I returned for practice later, I found I could no longer run the short races well enough to qualify as a team member. But I could run distance races without difficulty, so I pursued my training in those."



GEORGE STEWART
Former Marin Tar

When Stewart joined the Army team at Ft. MacArthur in April for training for the upcoming Sacramento-inter-service track and field meets, he participated in practice races to prove his worth. He proved it when he ran his way into the number one position in the 15-kilometer through 50-mile marathon races, a total of eight different races.

In June, he placed second in the six-mile run, and third in the two-mile run at the Sacramento Inter-Service meets. His placement helped the Army win the meet by narrowly whipping the second-place Marines, 64-61.

Ironically, George Stewart got interested in running competitively during his senior year at Tamalpais High School, just to keep from going to mandatory physical education classes.

"After three years of doing the same old thing, I wanted out," admitted Stewart. "I knew if I got into a major school sport I could get out of having to go to PE. I was good at running so I joined the track and field team."

He proved quickly he could run by becoming the Marin County Athletic League champion in the 880-yard dash shortly after joining the team. Later he placed fifth in the North Coast Section meet. Before graduating from high school he broke the school's 880 record, with a time of 1:57.5.

He fared even better at College of Marin where he continued his education. He widened his choice of races and proved he was adept at them all.

"With the coaching help from Tony Bailey, I went through 22 consecutive wins in the 880, the mile, and the two-mile races at the junior college level. I broke the college's record for the mile with a time of 4:09.9, and placed third in the state."

Stewart's record at Marin was picked up by many universities throughout the U.S. and many offered scholarships to the aspiring athlete. He chose Oklahoma State, one of the Big Eight conference teams in which track and field play a major role in the overall sports program. His participation there in individual racing and on relay teams kept Oklahoma among the op three in the U.S.

After graduation in 1972, George Stewart decided to join the Army "just to see what it is like," and to take advantage of the Army's offer to let him join the service's track and field team.

The Army specialist continues to train religiously for the future track and field meets, and possibly for qualification in the 1976 Olympics.

"I think I'm in better shape now than I have ever been," concludes Stewart. "In fact the next time I run over to my mother's home in Mill Valley, if I happen to arrive early, I may just keep on running until I reach the top of Mt. Tamalpais.

"Just for the practice."

Does your wagon promise more than it can deliver?

Some wagons fool you. They look like they can carry a lot. But when it comes to hauling a lot, they can't handle it.

The Peugeot 504 wagon is different. We designed it to handle cargo as well as people. That's why it comes with a wheelbase six inches longer than our 504 sedan. And a heavy-duty suspension system with two coil springs over each rear wheel instead of just one.

The result is a wagon that can carry 67 cubic feet or over half a ton of cargo (1,410 pounds to be exact) without sacrificing good ride and handling.

The Peugeot wagon delivers excellent gas mileage, too. (We also make the only diesel station wagon in America. It doesn't use any gas at all.)

Yet for all its economy and carrying ability, the 504 still gives you a wagon full of luxury. It comes with fully-reclining front bucket seats, a rear window defroster, rack-and-pinion steering, and Michelin steel-belted radial tires. Plus an electric clock and child-proof rear door locks. All standard.

So come in and take a look at the Peugeot 504. Gas or diesel, it delivers a lot of wagon for your money.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

Choose Your Weapons

By LEE TREVINO

It's my business to make birdies and sell golf equipment. But a guy who only dusts off his sticks for the office blind bogey tournament doesn't need the same artillery that Ol' Mex uses.

Stick a 2-iron in the hands of a sometime hacker and his best hits will be against a cottonwood. Same way with umpteen kinds of finesse clubs.

Seven clubs will do nicely for the dud who only plays once a year. A good starter's set would include a lineup like this: 3-5-7-9-putter, plus 3-wood and driver.

You're not talking about a lot of money, and that's the good news.

The bad news is that there ain't any resale value on a short set on a trade-in. You lose dough. And it's almost impossible to fill in a short set.

A guy who thinks he's hooked on this game from first sight should buy a set of new pro line or store line clubs. Or he can find a good set of used pro line clubs in any shop.

Then let yourself go, Tonto: Let's see, a 1-iron, chipper, sand and pitching wedges, four or five woods, and one that converts into a witchin' rod in case you get thirsty.

Restraint Helps Sanderson In NHL Play

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Even Derek Sanderson, whose quick wit and busy mouth helped earn him a million dollars, knows when and how to lose an argument with the proper grace.

The flamboyant, mustachioed center, not generally known for get in the last word last get in the last word Wednesday night and as a result he wound up with his first hat trick in a Ranger uniform.

The discussion centered around a second period goal that had the players confused even after the Rangers had completed a 7-0 rout over the Minnesota North Stars to snap a four-game winless skein. Bill Fairbairn, off to one side, sent the puck into the slot, where it appeared to hit the skate of Minnesota defenseman Tom Reid and deflect behind goaltender Cesare Maniago.

When Sanderson was credited with the goal, he told the official scorer he hadn't touched it. But the official insisted that he saw the replay on television three times, and that the puck had gone in off Derek's right knee.

Before the period had ended, Sanderson added two more goals, including a short-handed effort in the final eight seconds of the session.

"How far do you want me to argue?" Sanderson joked later when asked how long he pursued the discussion. "It was a nice gesture by me.

"Anyway, Billy said to forget it. He said three goals looks better than two."

In other National Hockey League games, Buffalo edged the New York Islanders, 3-2, Los Angeles defeated Kansas City 6-0, Montreal nipped California 4-3, Toronto overcame Pittsburgh 6-4 and Chicago beat Detroit 7-5.

Habs Don't Need Pep Talk In Win

OAKLAND (UPI) — Montreal Coach Scotty Bowman needed no pep talk after his Canadiens trailed California 2-0 after two stanzas last night.

"We never give up," he said after his National Hockey League Habs pulled out a 4-3 win. "We've played well all season and we had been keeping the pressure on their goal in the second period. It finally paid off. I had no need to give those guys a pep talk."

Montreal exploded for three goals in 70 seconds with Yvon Cournoyer, Steve Shutt and Jacques Lemaire doing the honors and then LeMaire hit with 15 minutes to go so that a goal six minutes later by John Stewart was not enough for the Seals.

Ron Huston and Butch Williams scored for the first two Seals goals, yet Montreal carried the offense, banging 17 shots at goalie Gilles Meloche in the second period alone and winding up with a 38-33 margin.

Montreal now has played 11 games in Oakland without losing. Since November, 1970, the Canadiens have six victories and five ties on the Seals' home ice.

Marin Loop Basketball Teams More Than Holding Their Own

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Halfway through the pre-season basketball schedule, Marin County Athletic League teams are more than holding their own. In games against teams from outside the county, the MCAL has 31 wins against 18 losses.

Terra Linda has been devastating, winning eight games without a loss, seven of them by 15 points or better. In the Drake tournament last week, the Trojans annihilated Drake, 97-70, to win the championship. Tuesday night, the Pirates did even better with a 93-50 win over Sonoma.

Redwood also has won a tournament, and Marin Catholic has twice been a tourney runnerup. Drake, except for losses to T.L. and powerful Lincoln of San Francisco, has been astonishing, with seven wins, mostly against clubs several inches taller per man.

Terra Linda coach Fred Arnold says, "We feel pretty good about what we've done so far. I thought at the beginning of the season that we would have no more than two losses in the preseason."

The Trojans host Del Valle of Walnut Creek tomorrow night, and after a game against College of Marin's junior varsity next Friday, they finish their non-league slate against Albany Jan. 2 at USF.

CONSIDERING the improvement of the MCAL in recent years, Arnold has suggested the possibility of a senior all-star game at season's end matching Marin against a team from outside the county.

"Maybe 10 outstanding players from Marin against the North Bay or even the city. I know they do this with football (and baseball), and it would be a lot less expensive. And you'd only have to practice for a week or so."

Besides the honor of representing the county, says Arnold, "It would give seniors a chance to get seen by college scouts. There are so many good players in the league, it would be nice if they had a chance to play before scouts."

Arnold has discussed the idea with Drake's Pete Hayward and San Rafael's Bret Tovani. Arnold believes that if league and California Interscholastic Federation rules don't get in the way, an all-star game could be inaugurated next year.

AT THE TAM-BALBOA game Tuesday in Mill Valley, a Balboa fan asked, "You from a city paper?"

"No, San Rafael. You think a city paper cares about this game?"

He shook his head. "They don't cover Bal much. They come to our games, they walk in real nervous."

"You guys in any tournaments?"

"No, they don't ask us, 'cause they know something' might happen. But we're gonna win the championship next year. Francois Wise, you know, Willie Wise' brother? He's hurt now, but he's only a junior."

He turned his attention back to the game, where a Balboa player was arguing over a traveling call. "Yeh, you walked," he said.

A's To Open On March 13

OAKLAND (UPI) — With or without Catfish Hunter, the Oakland A's will be shooting for a fourth world championship next season, starting with the opening of spring training exhibition play March 13 against Arizona State.

The A's said yesterday that the team will report to Mesa, Ariz., Feb. 28 and begin workouts March 1.

The A's' schedule also showed that they have back-to-back games scheduled with cross-bay rivals San Francisco in Phoenix March 19 and in Mesa the next day.

Negotiations Are Underway For Ali Title Bout

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Promoter Chris Dundee began negotiations yesterday to match heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali in a title bout at the Miami Beach Convention Hall in early March.

Ali, who is trained by Chris' brother, Angelo Dundee, reportedly said he was interested in making a title defense here.

Dundee said the most likely opponents appeared to be Ron Lyle of Denver or Joe Bugner of England.

Chris Dundee contacted Ali's business manager, Herbert Muhammad, and reported the fight might be arranged.

Emotional Time For Grid Stars

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The big guys who will play in the Dec. 28 East-West Shrine football game at Stanford yesterday played with the little crippled kids for whose benefit the game is held. The kids won in a rout.

In what is annually one of sport's most moving moments, the players and youngsters were introduced to each other at Shriners Hospital and the initial shyness disappeared quickly.

"In fact some budding romances seem to have developed. Tampa tackle Darryl Carlton visited 7-year-old Sherry. When he was supposed to leave so that the West players could come vist, Sherry handed him a card and said "you stay with me. You keep this so you'll know my name."

Tammy, 7, wouldn't let Tulane star tight end Charles Hall go, either.

"You're going to stay here with me and you can't play football and I'm going to take you home with me," said Sherry.

"How long will that be?" asked the 275-pound Carlton.

"About three months, I think," she replied. Carlton stayed, the lone red-uniformed East player still talking to the girls when the rest went to visit the boys and the West players came to talk to the tiny, female patients.

Five-year-old Wendy had to break the news to Maryland All America star Randy White that she had a boyfriend, but she softened the blow by assuring the Outland Trophy winner that she still liked him a lot.

White noted that she was looking at Michigan quarterback Dennis Franklin and asked if he were the chosen one. She nodded.

Tiburon Netter Kierbow First In Mens' 35s

Don Kierbow of Tiburon is rated No. 1 in his age group, and four other Marin County players are also listed in senior rankings released today by the Northern California Tennis Association.

Kierbow is top-ranked in mens' 35 singles, ahead of Larry Axtell of San Francisco. Keith Klussman of Mill Valley, also in that age group, is among a group of 23 players ranked unnumerically after 16th place.

In mens' 45 singles, Bill MacKay of Tiburon is 15th, and Fen Cady of Tiburon is listed the same way as Klussman, in a group of 15 players following 15th place.

Steve Graves of Novato is seventh in mens' 65 singles, the second oldest age group. No Marinites are ranked in women's singles, men's doubles or women's doubles.

Pacific-8 Teams Impressive

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The Pacific Eight still boasts five unbeaten teams and three once-beaten quintets after another trio of intersectional basketball wins.

Washington State got 24 points from big Steve Puidokas last night on the way to a 72-69 victory over Denver to remain unbeaten. Once-beaten Bay Area rivals Stanford and California took impressive wins on the road.

Stanford had six players in double figures in an 89-67 romp at Wisconsin with Tim Patterson's 22 points leading the way. Cal actually had a cold night from the floor but still won 64-54 at Rice. Ricky Hawthorne had 18 for the Bears, who hit only about one-third of their shots. A total of 48 fouls and 34 turnovers marred the contest.

There was one stunning upset recorded last night on the Coast. San Francisco State was blanked for seven minutes and yet still won its first of the season with a 55-50 victory at the University of Pacific, where the Tigers are usually unbeatable. John Slater led the victors with 19. Cold UOP only hit 28 per cent of its shots.

Elsewhere, Nevada Vegas won 94-80 over winless Rhode Island with Eddie Owens and Jackie Robinson hitting 20 apiece and Rich Maraule tried 10 shots and hit them all in a 94-68 University of California at Irvine win over Moorehead State.

UC Santa Barbara routed Buffalo State 108-65 and Don Miller's 25 points led Dominguez past San Diego 86-82. Freshman Greg Bunch tallied 24 to lead Fullerton past Cal Poly Pomona 80-62. Portland State took Biola 98-78.

Some Coast teams found the going tough on the road. Bakersfield State fell 96-66 at Florida State. Chico State flopped 90-60 at Idaho and Jim Brown's 36 points led host Toledo to a 97-61 win over Hayward State.

In other action, Southern Utah beat Montana Tech 94-65 and Alaska nipped Central Washington 71-69.

Games tonight find Seattle at Montana, San Diego State at Colorado, San Jose State at DePaul, Hayward State at Akron and Fresno State at home to Utah State.

Giants Won't Change Plans

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wellington Mara, president of the New York Giants, said today the team's decision to play the 1975 —and possibly the 1976 — football season in New York will not change its plan to move to New Jersey.

Mara, at a City Hall news conference, said the Giants' planned move to the Hackensack Meadowlands sports complex, now under construction, has not been altered at all.

"None whatsoever," Mara said, when asked about possible changes in the team's future plans.

It was learned late yesterday afternoon that the Giants, in a surprise move, had arranged to play next season in Shea Stadium and had taken an option on Yankee Stadium for the 1976 season.

Mara said today that the New Jersey sports complex is now scheduled for completion by July 1, 1976.

"I am very pleased to announce that the Giants are back," Mayor Abe Beame said. "We want to keep this the greatest sports town in the country."

Pressed on the question of keeping the Giants in town, the mayor said, "We'll work on it slowly."

Gov. Byrne of New Jersey said he expected the Giants to play their regular 1976 games in the New Jersey Complex, located about six miles from New York City.

"I'm confident the Giants' immediate plans for playing in New York will not affect their arrangemens with us," Byrne said.

Mara conceded that the arrangement to play at Shea Stadium next year "will not be ideal."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Child's Educational Costs To Increase

By DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. In order to pay for my two children's education, I have invested regularly in two mutual funds — Putnam Investors and Johnston Mutual — over the last 10 years. These are now worth just over $20,000, having dropped in value the last two years. I am now worried that I will not have enough left to foot the college bills. The oldest will start in 1977 and the youngest in 1980. Should I make any changes? H.N.

A. According to the U.S. Office of Education, a bachelor's degree from a state university will cost $9,000 by 1978 and $12,000 by 1983. If you are thinking of a private college, you should double these figures. In your case, time is working for you — it will be a decade before your youngest graduates. You also have two more years to build your investment through additional contributions and distributions from the mutual funds. Since these are high quality mutual funds with above-average long-term growth records, I would stick with them.

Q. I hold 160 shares of Boise Cascade (NYSE). I paid a lot more for these shares than I could get if I sold now. Should I sell or hold for recovery? R.B.

A. Although Boise has successfully turned earnings around, this progress is not expected to be maintained in 1975. Boise operates in two major areas —paper/packaging and wood products/building materials. While the former group has surged and been a prime factor in recent earnings gains, the latter segment has sagged sharply. Despite the fact that housing starts reached their lowest level in four years in October, there seem to e some indications that the decline in this industry may slow with further infusions of money from the Federal Reserve Board.

Anticipated weakening in demand for paper products, with consequent price cuts, will probably push Boise's earnings for 1975 below this year's record level.

Nevertheless, Boise has excellent dividend coverage, an improved financial position and is selling at a historically low earnings multiple. I would hold this stock for its above-average long-term price recovery potential.

Silver Price

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handy and Harman today quoted silver at $4.575 per fine ounce up 9.5 cents.

Prices Go Lower On NY Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices moved lower today in moderately active trading on the New York Stock Exchenge.

Declines led advances, 631 to 433, among the 1,601 issues crossing the tape.

The Middle East problems concerned some investors. There were reports Israel and the United States have had clashes over peace talks with Egypt.

Many investors, weary of recession news, were waiting for the Federal Reserve Board to report on the nation's money supply later in the day and on loan demands. Also awaited was the NYSE report on short interest after the market closes.

General Foods was the most active issue, up ½ to 16 ⅞ on 162,400 shares, including a block of 154,400 shares at 16 ½.

Fairfax Lumber To Expand Into Terra Linda In January

Fairfax Lumber, which has been operating at 109 Broadway in Fairfax for 62 years, will expand into Terra Linda next month, buying Gallagher's Hardware & Lumber at 4224 Redwood Highway, next to the Chinese Kitchen.

J. Clyde Strouss, owner of Fairfax Lumber, will take over Gallagher Hardware on Jan. 2 and rename it Fairfax Lumber. "Eventually, we will make it into a full-size home center with personalized service similar to the one in Fairfax," said Strouss. "It will be a one-stop center for all home needs, including floor coverings, kitchen cabinets, carpeting and tools of all kinds." Under Fairfax Lumber, the Terra Linda outlet will be open seven days a week, with Michael Folster of Fairfax as manager.

Daniel Gallagher of San Rafael, who has operated Gallagher's Hardware for 11 years, said he has no definite plans for the future but intends to go into sales work. His employees will remain at the store, working for the new owners.

McKENZIE MOSS II, former Kentfield resident, will become president and board member of the First National Bank of San Jose next month.

Moss goes to First National from the Walker Bank and Trust Company in Salt Lake City, where he was vice chairman of the board. He began his banking career in 1957 with United California Bank. He and his family lived in Kentfield from 1965 until this year.

JOHN NELSON of J Nelson Piano & Organ in San Rafael will start giving free adult organ classes from Tuesday, Jan. 9. He will personally conduct the weekly classes each Tuesday night from 7:30 p.m. at J Nelson Piano & Organ, located at 900 Andersen Drive, behind the Marin Motor Movies screen.

THREE MARIN residents, Theodore Bernardi, Ralph Butterfield, and Donn Emmons, were honored at the American Institute of Architects' 1974 Bay Area honor awards program in Oakland last week.

The firm of Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons of San Francisco won three awards — two for BART structures and another for the Bank of America World Headquarters in San Francisco.

THE SWISS CELLAR, a new restaurant serving French and Swiss dinners, opened this week in Ross, at 9 Poplar Avenue where Boulevard De Paris was formerly located.

DECORATION BY 12-YEAR-OLD

This man-sized Christmas display in the window of the Mill Valley Yarn Shop was created by a 12-year-old boy who is a sixth grader at Davidson School in San Rafael. The young artist is Nils Primgaard, son of Ann Snyder of San Rafael. Mrs. Snyder, who teaches stitchery at the yarn shop, said her son has shown talent for art since about age 6. "That's all he seems to do — draw and paint. I certainly hopes he gets into that field as a career."

The restaurant, open every night except Monday, is owned by Roger and Maryanne Braun of San Rafael. Braun was former chef at the Seven Seas in Sausalito for five years. The Swiss Cellar will be closed Christmas Eve (Dec. 24) but open on Dec. 25.

THE STERO DISHWASHING Machine Co. of Petaluma will hold a Christmas open house this Saturday in conjunction with the grand opening of its new plant at 3200 Lakeville Highway. The celebration will be from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday.

ROBERT W. TYHURST of Greenbrae has been promoted to executive vice president and chief operating officer of Itel Leasing Corporation, San Francisco.

Tyhurst joined Itel Leasing in 1970 as vice president, marketing. He has a master of business administration degree from the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce in Philadelphia.

DONALD E. WUDTKE of San Anselmo, owner of Don Wudtke & Associates architects and engineers in San Francisco, announced three appointments: Robert J. Stadelman of Mill Valley was named an associate of the firm; Richard E. Watson of San Francisco, secretary-treasurer; and John D. Kluttz of Fremont, vice president.
